TITLE FIGHT AT 7 TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Challenger Carl (Boo) Olson weighed 160 pounds, exactly the middleweight limit, today and champion Ray Robinson, 159½ for their middleweight title fight at Wrigley Field tonight.

(The fight will be televised on Channel 4 and broadcast on radio station CJOR, starting at 7.)

Brewery Blown Apart

Blast Punches 4-Storey Hole In Molson's

MONTREAL (CP)—An explosion ripped through a Molson's brewery building housing fermenting vats and grain storage bins in east-end Montreal today, taking the life of one worker and injuring two others, one seriously.

An ammonia tank on what would be about the eighth storey exploded at 2 a.m. and the blast punched out all four walls up to what would be the equivalent of the 10th or 11th storey. Only the internal structure of the building kept the top section from collapsing.

BODY IN RUBBLE

Debris was scattered hundreds of feet in all directions and windows in the adjoining cluster of Molson's buildings were shattered.

Dead is chief night brewer Paul S. Cheese. His body was found buried in a pile of rubble near an exit. Cheese was last seen near the site of the blast and rescue workers speculated that the force of the blast may have thrown him out onto the street.

Seriously injured was foreman Real Dufour. Another worker suffered minor injuries. Workers said casualties would have been much higher had the explosion occurred during the day when a full complement of brewery and office personnel would have been in the area.

FOUL-SMELLING GAS

No fire was visible following the explosion but foul-smelling ammonia gas billowed from a severed ammonia pipe on about the eight-storey level.

The upper floors each housed about 25 brewing tanks, each containing an average of about 425 barrels of brew. Streams of partly fermented beer and ale flowed from the building and backed up through the sewers near the building, on Notre Dame Street East.

COST $2 MILLION

Officials of the brewery said it will take some time to estimate damages.

The officials said the brewery was built 4½ years ago at a total cost of $2,000,000, including equipment, and is not considered a total loss.

Senator Harland de M. Molson, president of the brewery, described an earlier damage estimate of $10,000,000 as "absolutely fantastic."

"We haven't even begun to estimate damages yet," he said.

Freed of Charges

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Wealthy shoe manufacturer Harry Karl was freed today of charges he beat his estranged and pregnant wife, Marie (The Body) McDonald, during a quarrel at his home.

'LAST' RIGHT LAST WEEK; CROSSWORD PRIZE, $175

Oddly enough it was the word "last" in last week's Crossword Puzzle that eluded so many contestants that none of them had a completely correct solution. Prize this week, therefore jumps to $175 for subscribers.

The clue said: "A film star on the downward path may tend to talk about her — success." Success being in the singular, "last" is the favored answer. Most entries gave the word as "Past" which would refer to successes in the plural.

Complete answer with explanation to last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week will be found on Page 27 of today's Times.

MERCURY HITS RECORD SECOND DAY IN ROW

Victoria racked up another "hottest day" record at noon today when the official thermometer on Gonzales Heights reached 75 and showed indications of climbing to 80.

Warmest previous May 18 was in 1949, at 69.4 Thursday also scored a record for May 17 when the mercury reached 79 at 3:30 p.m.

Probability is for thin, high cloud, slightly cooler temperatures, but a good portion of sunshine Saturday and Sunday.

There were 14 hours of sunshine Thursday, and unofficial thermometers in downtown areas, where radiation from pavement and buildings affects the mercury, reached 85 in late afternoon.

Pearkes Declares Control of Steel 'Sinister' Angle

OTTAWA (CP)—Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. today was accused of using blackmailing tactics to obtain an $80,000,000 loan from the federal government to cover 90 per cent of the cost of the Alberta-Winnipeg section of the cross-country natural gas pipeline.

Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC (PC, Esquimalt-Saanich) told the Commons there are "sinister workings" behind the arrangements the government has made with the company for construction of the $75,000,000 Alberta to Montreal project.

Trans-Canada had a corner on all pipe available for the project and had stored it in the United States. The pipe was "under guard" and could not be touched by the federal government or any Canadian company.

The government had been told that if it wanted the line built only Trans-Canada could do it. Trans-Canada had said it was the only source of pipe "so hand out another $80,000,000."

NO SOUND REASON

Gen. Pearkes said the government has given no sound reason why the line should be built immediately. The matter should be reviewed, even if it took another two years.

There was no immediate need in eastern Canada for gas. The only reason for the rush appeared to be that "certain people connected with Alberta want to reap the benefits of gas distribution during their lifetime."

He said it would be better to store Alberta gas in the ground and leave it for future generations. It might also be better to move industries from eastern Canada to the west than enter into the present proposed arrangement.

Gen. Pearkes said he spoke for people who must pay for the pipeline but would get no benefit from it.

"Why should my constituents (only Vancouver island) be asked to dig down into their pockets?" he asked.

He asked Dr. Orchard, who is also B.C. deputy forests minister, if he knew a "large conspiracy against the minister, and also your department, was afoot, backed by hundreds of thousands of dollars?"

NO KNOWLEDGE

"Do you know whether such a conspiracy, out to break forest policies, exists?" asked Mr. Gibson.

"I have no knowledge of any such conspiracy," said Dr. Orchard.

"Then you would say it is absolutely wrong, misleading, and a lie?" pressed the former Liberal MLA.

"As far as I am personally concerned, there is no conspiracy," said the chief forester.

Asked whether Mr. Sommers had ever brought the "conspiracy" to his attention, Dr. Orchard replied "no, the minister never brought it to my attention."

He then added: "That doesn't mean to say I didn't find people in the industry who were out to wreck forest management legislation."

CHARGED IN HOUSE

Mr. Sommers resigned from his cabinet post Feb. 27, after denying he had accepted bribes in the issuing of forest management licences.

He told the legislature he and his department had been subjected to a continuous and increasingly bitter attack since he took office.

"The stakes are large enough to warrant the expenditure of the hundreds of thousands of dollars that have been invested in this campaign of destruction," said the minister.

"The ultimate objective" of the conspiracy, he said, "is to wipe out all legislation that provides for government control in the cutting of our forests."

Dr. Orchard, still under cross-examination by Mr. Gibson, said also he "wasn't asked for Continued on Page 2

Three More Closures Threaten

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will use closure three times more if opposition delays on the pipeline legislation make it necessary, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said today in the Commons.

He said Conservative and CCF members have used "every possible device" to prevent passage of the bill.

The government, in putting closure on an earlier stage of debate early this week, had been merely using a device which Conservatives first used in 1912.

"The Tories have used it four times," Mr. Gardiner said. "We will have to use it possibly four times if they make it necessary."

No Election Says PM Until Gasline Started

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today there will be no federal general election until Parliament has considered new fiscal arrangements with the provinces and enabled a start this year on the cross-country natural gas pipeline.

The prime minister made the statement in a Commons reply to Thomas M. Bell (PC, St. John-Albert), who asked whether an election would be called in view of the general interest and "indignation" of the people.

He apparently referred to the pipeline proposal of the government to provide a loan of up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. to build the Alberta-Winnipeg leg of the 2,200-mile line this year.

Mr. St. Laurent replied that he feels there is a responsibility "to the whole of Canada" to deal with other matters before he could consider dissolution of Parliament.

One of these matters, he said, is the new federal-provincial fiscal arrangements.

He said the government also feels it is in the interest of Canada generally to start on the pipeline this year.

"The calling of an election is something that would make that quite impossible," he said.

Mr. St. Laurent apparently decided to use Mr. Bell's question to reply to repeated demands and challenges from CCF and Progressive Conservative speakers in the pipeline debate of the last few days to take the issue to the people.

The last federal election was Aug. 10, 1953.

The new federal tax-sharing offer to the provinces had been described previously by Finance Minister Harris as going "as far as we can go at this time" in money terms. He also said, in his March 20 budget speech, that federal legislation will be introduced later this session to cover the offer.

So far, there has been no indication of when this legislation will be introduced.

Thursday, during House consideration of the pipeline bill, Trade Minister Howe remarked that he would like to know who is sponsoring the "obstruction and delay" the government is facing in the Commons from Conservative and CCF on the issue.

Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto-Eglinton) replied: "The people of Canada from whom you have no mandate to do what you are doing. Just give them a chance."

To this, Mr. Howe said: "We will in due course."

OTTAWA (CP)—The air force said today the medical file of FO-William Schmidt, 25, of Medicine Hat, Alta., and Creston, B.C., is considered confidential. He was one of 15 persons killed in the crash of an RCAF jet fighter into a nurse's rest home near here Tuesday night.

RCAF Won't Open Medical File Of Jet Victim

An RCAF spokesman said all documents concerning the doctor-patient relationship are considered confidential, just as they are in civilian life.

Mrs. Jessie Schmidt, mother of the dead pilot, was quoted Thursday as saying that her son had a heart condition as a boy.

The air force said medical checks in the service are "very, very stringent" and that no person with any kind of heart condition would be permitted to fly.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

FATHER IN HEAVEN, we thank Thee today for the bounty that is all around us, and we are especially grateful for the privilege of living in the midst of this island beauty and for the foresight of the pioneers who made our city so pleasant with parks and gardens. May every one of us know the joy of sharing this loveliness with others, the visitors who will come from every part of the world. Help us to be gracious hosts, kindly and helpful to those who are strangers within our gates; through Jesus Christ. Amen.

With such a courtship, it's goin' to be some time 'fore that pipeline kin live in welded bliss.

There's nothin' very conservative about some o' th' Conservatives' remarks. An' th' Socialists ain't so social either.

M' Uncle Zeke sez he wouldn't mind a heat wave, but he's too hot t' raise his hand.

Saanich Man Pays $250 Fine; Owied Smuggled Goods

A Saanich mechanic was fined $250 and $5 costs or three months in jail when he appeared in Saanich police court today charged with illegal possession of smuggled car parts.

Grant King, 1666 McRae, was charged after an RCMP search of his home uncovered $848 worth of race-car parts which had illegally entered Canada in February.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday.

RCMP said the parts were being used in construction of a race car which King was building for another person.

Among the parts were an engine head, racing pistons, cam shafts, a crankshaft and eye-bolts.

Penalties under the Customs Act for the offence is a fine of from $200 to $1,000, jail sentence of from one to four years, or both.

Thursday, King was also fined $30 or five days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding a 50 mph speed limit on Patricia Bay Highway May 4.

Police said he was paced at 70 mph.

Gorge Officially Declared 'Clean'

Gorge waters received their reach the Gorge near Inez official "clean bill of health" Street.

Finally, the health authorities ask that before crowds take to the two approved beaches, sand be dumped to a depth of four inches, with renewals at intervals.

An announcement by Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy and Dr. A. N. Beatty said "The waters of the Gorge come well within approved standards required for safe bathing."

Recommended was construction of beaches at the old free bathing area below Tillicum Bridge and on the site of the old Japanese Tea Garden.

Official declaration of opening of public swimming is subject to provisions.

First, opening dates will be set each year by health authorities following a sanitary survey and sampling of the water. It is pointed out that because of winter drainage from Colquitz River and Craigflower Creek, it is essential to determine that ground-water has dried up before swimming starts.

Secondly, opening depends on a weekly check on a sewer pumping station adjacent to the Gorge by Saanich engineering department. A breakdown could cause contamination to the Gorge.

The ban on Gorge swimming, though ignored by many youngsters, has been in effect since 1938 due to the presence of pollution caused by residential septic tanks. In recent years sewers have replaced the tanks and sanitary inspectors recommended the area be re-opened.

Gorge Waterway Improvement Association is currently investigating methods to finance a dredging program.

LAST RITES HELD FOR FATHER DICK

OTTAWA (CP)—Blue naval uniforms blended with black and white-nuns' habits today at funeral rites for one of the victims of Tuesday night's crash of an RCAF jet fighter into a Roman Catholic convalescent home.

A funeral mass was held in 100-year-old St. Patrick's church for Rev. Richard Ward, 42, of Toronto, assistant chaplain of the fleet and also chaplain at the destroyed convent. Another mass will be held in Toronto where burial will take place.

Vice-Admiral Harry De Wolf, chief of naval staff, headed the large group of naval officers attending the rites.

an opinion" on the inclusion of the Clayquot public working circle in B.C. Forest Products Ltd. management licence on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Gibson asked Dr. Orchard whether he remembered stating "I have never given my approval to B.C. Forest Products licence?"

"I can't recall definitely making that statement," said Dr. Orchard. He then added, "I don't say for a minute I didn't make that statement."

"Was it done whether you approved or not?" asked Mr. Gibson.

"I wasn't asked for an opinion."

Mr. Gibson asked "who was it who approved it (taking in the public working circle, generally considered the preserve of small loggers)?"

"I don't know," the chief forester answered.

"How many occasions were there where the department was passed completely—where licences were granted without their approval or knowledge?"

"I can't answer off-hand," said Dr. Orchard.

He then qualified this to say he has knowledge of all licences, and added that "there is no reason why the minister should ask for my advice, in the law."

"It would seem the public is not very well protected," Mr. Gibson said.

Dr. Orchard told the commission that Canadian Forest Products and Powell River Co. could have had forest management licences "if they had actively sought one, and had been prepared to accept what the forest service recommended."

Both firms stated in previous evidence they had taken every possible step in an effort to obtain a licence.

Opposition Moves To Stall Pipe Bill

(From Times News Services)

The Opposition has made two moves which, in the absence of further government closure on debate, could stall passage of the cabinet's pipeline bill beyond the June 7 deadline.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) moved Thursday to sidetrack to a committee the government bill to provide heavy financial aid to the Alberta-Montreal natural gas pipeline project of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

CCF leader Coldwell added a rider that the committee consider public ownership of the $375,000,000 project.

Both motions—amendments to the government motion that the bill's principle be approved on second-reading vote—opened the way to a possible extra two full rounds of debate on the legislation.

The government Thursday gave no indication of when it may use against the closure weapon employed early this week to choke off preliminary debate in two days.

The closure motion, which had not been used since 1932, can be proposed only by a cabinet minister. Agriculture Minister Gardiner, interrupted in mid-speech by Thursday night's adjournment, held the floor for today's resumed debate.

Only if Evidence of Obstruction

Trade Minister Howe said Thursday the government's decision was to use closure only if there was evidence of obstruction. It had been employed early this week after five previous votes on procedural points forced by the opposition.

Today's sitting is the second day of debate on the bill to lend Trans-Canada up to $80,000,000 to cover 90 per cent of the cost of the Prairie section of its 2,200-mile line. The bill would also set up a crown corporation, with federal and Ontario government financing, to build the $118,000,000 northern Ontario section and lease it to Trans-Canada.

If the Prairie loan is not approved by June 7, Trans-Canada is released from its undertaking to complete the line to Winnipeg by Dec. 31. If the advance is not repaid by April 2 the government can take over the project.

Mr. Howe, opening debate Thursday, read into the record letters from Ontario Treasurer Dana Porter, Alberta Premier Manning and Manitoba Premier Campbell. All urged a speedy start on construction.

Mr. Howe said the government feels it has a responsibility to help find an outlet for Alberta gas because of the federal Canada-first policy on use of the country's energy resources.

"The government had done 'absolutely nothing' in financial aid to Trans-Canada in two years of preliminary pipeline work,"

Canada will have control of the cross-Canada natural gas pipeline, Howe declared.

"Let us not worry too much about Canadian control," he said.

Mr. Howe said the $375,000,000 line will be on Canadian territory, under Canadian law and subject to regulation by the provinces and the federal board of transport commissioners.

Mr. Diefenbaker made a sharp attack on Prime Minister St. Laurent as he criticized use of closure. The Conservative asked Mr. St. Laurent why he had not spoken "to explain why the rights of Parliament are being filched away."

Mr. St. Laurent did not reply.

Government Would Not Accept Plan

Mr. Gardiner said the cabinet would not even have considered Calgary gas executive Frank McMahon's plan if it had come before the cabinet.

It was withdrawn early this month.

He said his colleague Mr. Howe knew when he read the proposal that the government would not accept it. The government had decided to allow a maximum export of 300,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, out of the 500,000,000 surplus to Alberta needs. Trans-Canada plans to export 200,000,000 cubic feet but Mr. McMahon had proposed twice that amount.

Before Thursday's debate began the CCF made an unsuccessful attempt to block the measure.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) said the bill is improper and incomplete because it does not include the government agreement with

'Closure Jitters' Hit All Speakers

TORONTO (CP)—Ottawa dinner speakers have the "closure jitters," a government official said Thursday.

Dr. George Davidson, deputy minister of welfare, prefaced an address to the Ontario Children's Aid Societies with that reference to a federal government action of invoking the little-used rule of closure to curtail pipeline debate.

He said it was a relief to be away from Ottawa because "things are so bad down there... not even an after-dinner speaker can talk for more than 20 minutes these days without them invoking the rule of closure on him." He added: "Anyone who tries to tell you that life is easy in Ottawa for orators these days, is just talking through his pipeline."

He told the society the "astounding" increase in the Canadian birth rate plus economic inflation will make it necessary for the societies to have increased public support.

Premier Giving Alberni Look-See

PORT ALBERNI—Premier W. A. C. Bennett was scheduled to spend a large part of today in this district on his "look-see" tour of Vancouver Island.

Luncheon was arranged with Mayor Loran Jordan of Port Alberni, Mayor Ben Wright of Alberni, and Chamber of Commerce officials.

The premier spent Thursday morning at Courtenay, where he planted a tree in front of the provincial government building, then drove to Campbell River where he visited the village commission, hospital board officials, and examined road construction in the Kelsey Bay area. He spent the night in Courtenay.

'Being Skinned' In Pipe Deal, Says Coldwell

OTTAWA (CP)—CCF leader Coldwell indicated Thursday night in the Commons he has little confidence in Frank McMahon, Calgary oil and gas millionaire, as a potential promoter of a Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline.

"I don't think the record of Mr. McMahon recommends him to the attention of this House," he said during the pipeline debate.

From his record in Canada and elsewhere, Mr. Coldwell said, there is very little to choose between Mr. McMahon and others who have been referred to as "economic buccaners."

He said that "if Canada is going to be skinned, I would just as soon see Canada skinned by an American as by a Canadian."

Mr. McMahon, head of Westcoast Transmission Company, last month offered an alternative plan for financing and constructing a pipeline to deliver Alberta natural gas to Quebec and Ontario. But the government said it did not consider the proposal a firm one. Mr. McMahon subsequently withdrew his offer.

Mackenzie King's Opinion Available?

OTTAWA (CP)—A cabinet minister was asked Thursday whether he had been able, through a seance, to get the opinion of the late Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King on the government's action Tuesday in applying closure on initial Commons pipeline debate.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert), asked the question in the Commons of Immigration Minister Pickersgill, one-time secretary of the former Liberal prime minister who was interested in the occult sciences.

Bertram Appointed Ladysmith CD Head

LADYSMITH—Tom Bertram was appointed civil defence officer for Ladysmith to succeed F. C. Highfield who resigned recently. The appointment was made by the city council.

Mayor Len Ryan reported that Mr. Bertram had been recommended by the area civil defence coordinator and that he had consented to accept the post.

Mr. Bertram recently took an intensive course in civil defence which was held in Victoria for the pharmacists of the province.

Liberals Crow As Two Tories In Open Clash

OTTAWA (CP)—Carl Nickle clashed openly in the Commons Thursday with Progressive Conservative colleague John Diefenbaker.

Mr. Nickle, member for Calgary South who consistently supports the government on the cross-Canada gas pipeline issue, tried to ask Mr. Diefenbaker a question as the Prime Minister member lashed at the federal proposal with cutting criticism.

Mr. Diefenbaker waved Mr. Nickle down as Liberals crowded with glee. A member cannot interrupt another's speech with questions unless the speaking member agrees. Mr. Nickle resumed his seat.

"My honorable friend has already received the commendation" of Trade Minister Howe, for his stand on the issue, said Mr. Diefenbaker, and he did not want to disturb that relationship.

Logger's Body Found

POWELL RIVER—Body of a Vancouver logger was found washed up on the beach near Powell River Thursday, 24 hours after he fell from a speedboat driven by his brother, Stanley Boretta, 36, fell from the boat Wednesday.

Blackmore Faces Bitter CCF Attack

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Crier John Blackmore faced a running fire of CCF heckling Thursday night as he supported the government's plan for a speedy start on the cross-country natural gas pipeline.

Interruptions began as soon as the Lethbridge member started his Commons speech on the bill to lend up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for the Prairie section of its 2,200-mile Alberta-Montreal project.

"We want the pipeline built at the earliest possible moment," Mr. Blackmore said. His party wanted the bill passed as soon as possible.

Claude Ellis (CCF—Regina) added: "For the benefit of American gas companies."

Mr. Blackmore criticized John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) for calling the government's plan a "raid" and said the money is only being loaned—and at five-per-cent interest—"a right good rate for such a big amount."

ASSETS PLEDGED
All of Trans-Canada's assets had been pledged for the loan.

"It has no assets," said a CCF member.

Mr. Blackmore said Ontario and Quebec need the gas supply. If war came their present power and fuel sources would be endangered.

He referred to Conservative criticisms that the government had ignored an alternative pipeline proposal presented by Calgary gas executive Frank McMahon.

Mr. Blackmore said Trans-Canada has honored every term of its contract with the federal government. Yet the Conservatives were "urging that the contract be dishonored because a 'By-night' like Mr. McMahon came along."

He referred to Trans-Canada's president, N. E. Tanner, a former mines minister in Alberta's Social Credit government.

Mr. Ellis interjected that Mr.

LOUSE, LOUSY HOUSE TERMS

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe did not deny Thursday a Commons charge by Gordon Churchill (PC, Winnipeg South Centre), that the minister called him "a louse" during Tuesday's pipeline debate.

Opposition Leader Drew then suggested this precedent set by Mr. Howe makes it "permissible and appropriate to describe this government as lousy."

Why the Gag?

THE GREAT PIPELINE DEBATE, contains, so far, more politics than reason. It has generally detoured around the facts to follow the red herring of American economic domination.

The Opposition parties have a strong case against the Government's policy but they are not satisfied to make that case. Because they think this will produce the most political dividends, they represent the policy as a sell-out to mysterious American interests.

The fact, of course, is that no private interest, Canadian or American, will undertake to build the pipeline under present conditions. Trans-Canada Pipe Lines tried to finance in Canada and the United States but no one would lend it the necessary money because no one could foresee any profit. The scheme can become profitable, if it ever becomes profitable, only if large quantities of gas are sold to the United States and the United States has not yet agreed to admit this gas.

The refusal of the Federal Power Commission to issue an import permit is the cause of all the present trouble. If the permit had been granted, Trans-Canada or some other company could have raised capital immediately. But only a small part of that capital could have been raised in Canada. The Canadian investor has showed little interest in this project.

Even if the Government's original policy had succeeded, even if the Federal Power Commission had granted an import permit, most of the money would have been supplied by American investors, who were willing to take a chance on future profits.

So long as an assured American market was lacking no one but the Government of Canada could possibly get the pipeline under way. Thus only two practical questions faced the Government when its original plan collapsed. Should it postpone construction until it knew the decision of the Power Commission; and if it decided to go ahead immediately without this decision, should it build the pipeline itself, or let Trans-Canada build it?

For reasons which we cannot understand, the Government decided to go ahead with the pipeline section of the pipe this year, as if Winnipeg would freeze next winter without gas.

To Save the Parks

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT apparently is considering the creation of a separate cabinet portfolio covering recreation, the tourist industry and parks. This is a decision not to be taken lightly, since another government department certainly will add to the cost of administration. Every department, started on a modest scale, soon expands its staff, increases its expenditure and demands more money from the Legislature.

On the other hand, recreation in its various forms is becoming big business, especially in British Columbia. Our tourist industry is an important feature of our provincial economy. And certainly our provincial parks, which will become increasingly vital to this industry, have received shabby treatment from all our governments.

British Columbians have always regarded the whole outdoors as a park where they could roam, camp and enjoy themselves as they pleased. That day is passing. As our population grows, as forests are brought under increasing regulation and the resorts accessible from our expanding cities are crowded, every park will become more precious.

But as the tragedies of Tweedsmuir and Strathcona have proved, our governments are really not much interested in parks. We have not set aside nearly enough park areas to serve the population of the future and the parks already established are constantly at the menace of commercial invasion.

It should not be necessary to establish a separate department to administer and preserve parks but the present arrangements are proving unsatisfactory. The whole park program is subordinated and neglected in the huge department of lands and forests (now administered by an over-worked minister who also presides over the education system.)

A parks department and its cost would be justified if it were strong enough to initiate and defend an adequate program of outdoor conservation, to promote the tourist industry, which will depend increasingly on parks, and in general to protect the recreational resources of British Columbia against their powerful enemies, in and outside the government.

A Voice Regained

AFTER AN ENFORCED CLOSURE of ten months, El Tiempo of Bogota is once more free to publish. President Rojas Pinilla of Colombia has lifted the ban he placed on that great liberal newspaper last August. The President's original action was in retaliation for printed criticism of his regime. But the ban did not go well with General Rojas' promises, on taking office in 1953, that he would restore the internal peace and freedom which had characterized Colombia during most of this century.

In once more freeing El Tiempo he may be bowing to the pressure of opinion, both in his own country and abroad, which condemns destruction of a free press. As with most dictators, General Rojas apparently found that he could not rule with limited authoritarian power. One dictatorial action led to another, until the promise of his early days had become lost in a tangle of repression and censorship.

Restoration of freedom to El Tiempo may mark the turn of the tide. In any case the paper's progress will be watched with interest in the Americas, for under repression it stands as the emblem of a free press everywhere, an attack on any one segment of which must be the concern of all.

The Premier and Mrs Arsens

IN THE LIGHT OF HIS RECENT remarkable statement that "This is the year in which there will be no election," Premier Bennett is behaving in a surprising way. He is visiting various regions of the province, and producing a vote-getting rabbit from his hat at each stop: a tax exemption "dividend" at Powell River; annexation of the Yukon and NWT at Prince Rupert; a $16.5 million tunnel at Nanaimo; and so on.

Simultaneously, let it be noted, his legislative colleague Mrs. Lydia Arsens is at large with her own unique provincial panaceas—at Victoria, a cure for cancer; at Cobble Hill, a tender solicitation in behalf of sterile cows; at Port Alberni a remedy for runny noses.

While the Premier charms his audiences with multi-million dollar works programs, Mrs. Arsens talks about runny noses. Mr. Laing and Mr. Strachan will have to produce some mighty ingenious ideas to combat that comprehensive program.

Don't Turn It Into a Wheel of Chance

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I SEE in Business Week that the Mental Health Association estimates that "as many as 25 per cent of all industrial personnel suffer from some degree of mental disorder, ranging from severe psychoses to industrial maladjustment."

Well, why shouldn't an employee feel ill at ease, with an industrial psychologist poking into his mind and sizing it up all wrong? And with everyone spying on him, testing him, quizzing him, minding his business for him, and waiting to jump on him? I mentioned something of this last week, when advising you to read Jung's book, "Tomorrow is Already Here," especially the chapter on industrial psychologists who make men live without privacy in a "world without walls" . . . industrial psychologists, "soul engineers," whom employees hate worse than any other thing.

It seems to me that if a man is well adjusted to impossible and tyrannical conditions, then he is not mentally healthy at all. On the contrary, the more unhappy he is about the conditions, the more he is really sane. There are plenty of times when "industrial maladjustment" would be the only hopeful symptom, as a reaction against industrial psychologists.

To endure unbearable things, by means of sheer guts and because of sheer necessity . . . that is all very well, and often noble, and sometimes strengthening. But to call unbearable things satisfactory doesn't sound like the right sort of adjustment to me.

THE DEAR OLD SCHOOL

THE father of a 12-year-old girl was complaining to a pal that his daughter lacks the power of concentration. Lacks it to a degree hitherto unknown outside the world of puppies. "She hardly pays attention to one darned thing," said the father. "Well," said the friend, "in most cases she is quite right not to. Very few things are worth it."

THE RIGHT APPROACH

THE other day I found myself in the middle of a discussion about how the universities should raise their standards, so as to admit serious students only. Now it is true that every university contains a huge and depressing cluster or clot of students who have no business being at college at all. They are doing themselves and the college no good whatever.

Burns pointed this out many generations ago:

"What's a' your jargon o' your schools, Your Latin names for horns an' stools; If honest nature made you fools, What sairs your grammars?"

Ye'd better ta'en up spades and shoofs, Or knapin'-hammers.

A set o' dull conceited hashes Confuse their brains in college classes. They hang in storks and come out asses. Plain truth to speak;

An' syne they think to climb Parnassus By dint o' Greek. Gie me ae spark o' Nature's fire!"

and so on. And perhaps queerer people get to college now than got there in Burns' day. And study queerer subjects.

I AGREED with much that was said, in so far as it applied to the types who cannot possibly be helped by college, and the ones who are harmed by it. As for the ones who might be helped by college, we are on trickier ground. . . . I wouldn't feel quite easy about keeping them out by impossibly high standards. In any event, the discussion began to get mighty exclusive when it assumed that high marks in examinations are the only test of the desirable student. Are they really? I can think of all sorts of clever young men who got very high marks and yet who now seem to possess no symptom of a soul whatever. I can also think of men who got mighty low marks, and who have turned out quite well. And of this second type, I don't just mean men who would have got on well without any college at all. I include "poor" students who benefitted a little (at least) from going to university, and whom a very rigid test would have excluded.

DOWN at one end of the room in which this elevating discussion took place, a few of us admitted that we were more or less wastrels at college. "The wastrel boy to the college has gone," the bottom ranks you will find him. "Or, to adapt another poem, 'Come hither, lady, fair, and joined be to our mad wastrels.' And we swore that not only did college do us a bit of good, in spite of our being wastrels, but that we did the college good too, and gave it a tone it might otherwise have lacked. If a man is lazy and stupid, perhaps he should be expelled, but if he is lazy and has certain gifts, he may be by no means a dead loss to the dear-old school, or it to him. Whereupon we formed the Old Wastrels Club. As the secretary, I shall be glad to consider applications for membership. We have a very lovely O.W. tie.

As Our Readers See It

Good Neighbor Needed

This letter is written in the hope that it may be read by some man in Victoria who has two or three hours to spare on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon, and would be willing to take a totally blind and terribly crippled lad in his early thirties, out for a walk in his wheel chair, perhaps to Beacon Hill Park or some other point of interest.

He has been a patient in the Mount St. Mary Hospital for several years and his condition is such that he cannot be taken in a car; however, his chair is new and very easy to navigate. If you feel you would be interested will you kindly write, phone or call 2-5049.

ERIC BRETTELL.

Honorary Victoria Director, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 330 Beach Drive.

Questions the Right

The Victoria branch of the National Federation of Labor Youth questions the right of the Victoria Celebrations Association in refusing entry to its float in the Victoria Day Parade. The decision of the association is a violation of freedom of expression, a democratic right inherent in this country.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas referred to our slogan, as "criticism of the whole country." Our slogans do not criticize the country but the government's legislation in this country. Is this not the right and the duty of every Canadian citizen?

The slogans, which were to appear on our float Monday next, call for increased government spending on sports and recreational facilities. We feel that such spending would go a long way towards solving the problem of juvenile delinquency with which Magistrate Thomas is no doubt familiar.

BILL JAMES.

Spokesman, Victoria Branch, National Federation of Labor Youth.

Same Front

The Greater Victoria Celebrations officers should certainly be congratulated in refusing an appeal of the so-called National Federation of Labor Youth—a Communist front—to enable them to place a Communist propaganda float in the parade.

This is the same front that rented a Legion Hall for the purpose of raising up to $5,000 for Communist purposes a few months back.

It is really refreshing to see our citizens alerted to the purposes and operations of these fronts.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

Gardens Only

Recently our city council was discussing and pictures were being printed in both our daily papers showing the litter and rubbish in alleyways and backyards throughout our city.

I would like this opportunity to state that it is not only the private individuals who are responsible. I'll give an open in-itation to our esteemed mayor and aldermen to come and look at a piece of city-owned property at the corner of Erie and St. Lawrence streets.

This eyesore is worse than any junk yard or woodlot in the city and it is on our waterfront drive just as much as any part of Dallas Road or Marine Drive. Why cannot some of this $75,000 beautification program be spent here?

Fishermen's Wharf in most cities is a tourist attraction with sea food restaurants decorated with nets and other marine replicas. Our Fishermen's Wharf is a disgrace; it is so littered with junk that one cannot walk leisurely among the boats without tripping.

We brag that this is a tourist mecca. What a laugh. What is there here for the tourist? I was born in Victoria and have traveled extensively. "Frisco" is "Frisco," New York is New York, London is London, but Victoria does not want to be Victoria, it wants to try to be something, it is not.

Those who just returned from masquerading throughout the Prairies want to come down from cloud 3,000, and sell Victoria because it is Victoria. A beautiful place (except for Erie and St. Lawrence streets). Victoria is not and never will be a bit of "Old England; and never will it be; thank God!

If we cannot find Victorians to sell Victoria in its true picture, well in the name of righteousness, let us keep them home. It reminds one of the man who said an orator reminded him of Death Valley because there was a horn here and a horn there with a lot of bull between.

We have the garden city of Canada so let us brag about it as such. When we want to see England we can go there but come back fast to Victoria.

"NATIVE SON WITH 100-YEAR ROOTS."

Hostile Universe

If we take an intelligent peek at what this world was like about the time when man began to evolve out of the mess, we find that more than half of the species which have survived the ceaseless struggle are parasitic in their habits, lower insentient forms of life feasting on higher and sentient forms; we find teeth and talons whetted for slaughter, hooks and suckers moulded for torment—everywhere a reign of terror, hunger and ferocity, with oozing blood and quivering limbs, gasping breath and eyes of innocence that dimly close in deaths of brutal conflict.

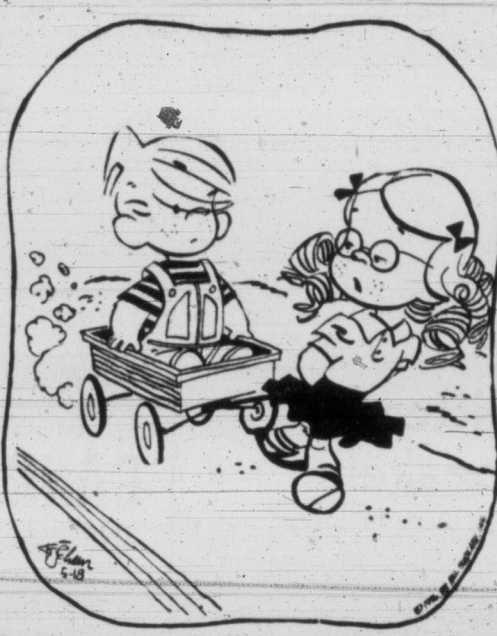

This was God's world in the raw. The world within which man was to evolve, developing over long ages of time physically and mentally into the intelligent and inventive genius he is today.

And now, with the understanding of the modern scientific mind, rather than the foggy religious precepts of the ancients, man may well hope to improve his own nature and his immediate social and physical environment so as, ultimately, to create a friendly, rational world inside the hostile irrational universe.

Pipeline Debate: Dramatic and Tense Hours in Parliament

THE great pipeline debate has produced some of the most dramatic moments to be seen in the Commons since the conscription crisis. One of the most dramatic and tense came on the day of the Government move closure, when Deputy Speaker William Robinson found himself in an awkward position.

He had demanded that Opposition Leader Drew withdraw the words "trained seals," used to describe the government backbenchers. And Mr. Drew, sensing a situation "made to order" for the Opposition, flatly refused to withdraw.

What Next?

When a Speaker asks a member to withdraw remarks made in debate and a member not only refuses but insists on the appropriateness of the remark the Speaker has one alternative and that is to "name" the member. When "named" the member is escorted from the chamber and barred from attending for a specific period. Government leaders began to worry as they envisaged newspaper headlines across the country proclaiming not only that closure had been invoked, but that the Opposition Leader had been removed from the House! The impact on the nation might be explosive.

Four Times

Four times the Deputy Speaker requested Mr. Drew to withdraw the expression "trained seals." The fourth time he said that if the Opposition Leader did not withdraw, the matter would have to be reported to Mr. Speaker Rene Beaudin. The House was in committee at the time, preparing to hear the second day of debate on the government's pipeline resolution.

Government House Leader Walter Harris saved the situation for the Government. He jumped in to pour oil in large quantities on the turbulent waters. He suggested that the term "trained seals" would be dismissed by Government members as part of the regular party warfare. After a few tense moments Mr. Robinson decided against summoning Mr. Speaker and the incident was closed.

Unprecedented

Opposition members had comforted themselves with the conviction that the Government would never dare to give notice of its intention to force closure on a debate, before the debate had begun. But they did not know the Government. Trade and Commerce Minister Howe pulled a surprise move on the Opposition and at the end of his speech, opening the debate on the pipeline, he gave notice that he would move for closure the following day.

Gasps

There were gasps from the Opposition benches at the temerity of the Government. Then having recovered, the Progressive Conservatives and CCF members shouted derisively at the Gov-ment benches "The guillotine!" "Dictatorship!" "The gag!" Government members shifted uncomfortably in their seats because while convinced of the necessity of getting the pipeline legislation through the House to enable a start on the western section of the line, there are several on the Government side who are far from happy that the cabinet had decided to invoke closure. The PC's and CCF were delighted. They firmly believe that the Government is digging its own grave by such heavy-handed tactics.

Closure

Closure has been invoked seven times in the history of Canadian parliaments, not just five times as originally reported. It was invoked twice during the year 1917 by the Borden administration. However on only one occasion has a Liberal administration resorted to closure in the past. But always when closure was used before, it was only invoked after a prolonged debate and in order to bring the debate to an end.

Difference

The CCF party federally and the party in Saskatchewan have two different policies. Mr. Johnston of Bow River, Social Credit spokesman on the pipeline, has concluded. He told the House that in the Commons the CCF was trumpeting the need to have the all-Canada line built as a publicly owned line. But in Saskatchewan the provincial section of the party was inviting private enterprise to develop its oil and gas resources and had guaranteed not to "socialize" that industry. As for the federal government aiding private enterprise, the Saskatchewan CCF government was planning to use $300,000 for this purpose this year. "I wish they would be a little bit consistent," he said.

Marriage

The House during the pipeline debate has heard much about the "shotgun" marriage that forced the original two pipeline companies into one large Trans-Canada Pipe Lines company to build the line as the government's "chosen instrument." During the debate the GCF and Progressive Conservatives have found themselves together opposing the Government on pipeline policy, and supporting each other's efforts to block the legislation. Commented Mr. Johnston of the Social Credit party, wryly: "A companionate marriage" between the CCF and PC's.

Tone

Trade and Commerce Minister Howe set the tone of the pipeline debate without so much as a whisper of conciliation in his opening remarks. He made tart comments in his preface, in reference to opposition laughter over his speech on the pipeline proposition during the previous week. Said Mr. Howe at the outset, the laughter denoted "a vacancy of mind, a refusal to face facts, the easy irresponsibility of those who need not produce a workable course of action." Thus the dogged Mr. Howe threw down the gauntlet and the opposition were quick to pick it up.

Readers Always Write

LONDON—Thank you, readers, for the flow of letters you keep coming my way. More than a few of them are addressed merely "London, England," and although, as I have mentioned, the British Post Office handles 26 million letters a day, their address sleuths manage to track me down and the letters arrive okay. The address, if you are thinking of writing is: 8 Cavendish Avenue, St. Johns Wood, London, N.W.8.

Points from recent letters: G. G. PATTERSON, of Toronto's Bowden Street: "You say that apart from British film actresses made famous by Hollywood, there are none in films coming from British studios who would pull people into a movie house on their name alone. Speak for yourself. Personally, I would rush to any theatre any time to see Celia Johnson, a superb actress whom you don't list. Also you fail to mention Margaret Lockwood, Ann Todd, Anna Neagle and others who have been and are internationally known." Glad to hear of their pulling power. Next film for Anna Neagle is one about the problem of teenagers in Britain. Nothing currently slated for the others mentioned.

THREE ENGLISH NURSES (Mary Rawley, Margaret Bunlaye and Maureen James), now living in Preston, Ont., write: "When you say there is a big gap between the level of nursing in Canada and in England, it is in favor of England, not Canada. We have been astounded by the inefficiency and lack of good, sound, practical nursing skill which is shown by the ever glamorous Canadian students and grads. The examination standard is far higher in England than in Canada. The examination for graduation here consists of one written paper, whilst the English consists of written papers, practical nursing and viva with physician and surgeon, all of whom set a very high standard."

T. R. BUCKLEY, general manager of a Canadian subsidiary of a British brewery, writes about my illusion to English reaction to "pure tasteless food" in Canada. "I use the same comparison between Canadian and British food to explain the difference between Canadian and British beer. Due to different climatic conditions, British barley has a longer growing and maturing period than Canadian barley, so British beer is naturally darker and has more 'body' and taste to it than Canadian beer. Likewise British fruits and vegetables are tastier than the Canadian."

"Thus in Canada, pale insipid beer can be classed with the pure, tasteless food. In Britain, dark, fuller bodied beer can be classed with the full flavored food. Climate and heating arrangements probably affect eating and drinking habits. In Britain's cold, damp, poorly heated homes people require heavier, fuller foods and beer to promote bodily heat. In Canada's dryer climate and central heating the people require lighter foods and beer for refreshment rather than for filling and heat-promoting purposes."

SYBIL SHARKEY, who runs the Commonwealth's smallest gift shop in its largest hotel, refers to my item about seeing movies and plays over and over again: "I think I've set a record for seeing 'The Quiet Man' 11 times—because it takes me back to dear old Galway."

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Hair Falling Out

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

Many persons keep asking me what to do when their hair begins to come out in handfuls. I say: "Wait and see: It soon may start coming back all by itself. If it doesn't come back by itself, there usually is not much that a physician can do." The person should be studied quickly to see if his (or her) glands of internal secretion are working right; but they usually are.

In many cases we physicians suspect that a mental shock or disturbance was the most probable cause of the death of the person's hair. Certainly, in many of the cases I have seen in which a person lost most of the hair on his (or her) body, he had had a big psychic problem to face. In a few cases, some hair came back and in other cases it did not.

Naturally, after these patients have seen many internists and skin specialists and have spent hundreds of dollars to no advantage, they ask me how about going to a quack, or an advertising person who guarantees to grow hair anywhere. All I can say is that I have heard a lot about these people and their doings from Better Business Bureaus. The managers of these bureaus tell me that the hair-quacks with whom they have dealt were very clever swindlers. The last letter I got from one of these managers told me how a young man, getting bald, had gone to a quack. Instead of putting any hair on his head, by clever high-pressure, the quack had induced the man to give him $168, which was all the money he could lay his hands on. He never got any hair.

The other day I was talking to a man who all his life has been a crack salesman. He said that recently he listened to a hair-quack's "pitch," or high pressure sales-talk just for the joy of watching a master of the art at work!

STRAWBERRY MARKS THAT FADE

According to Dr. A. H. Jacobs, of Stanford University, from 8 to 10 per cent of infants, soon after birth, show somewhere on their body a sharply outlined pale area which soon turns bright red. The surface of the lesion then rises and becomes tense and shiny. Usually, in the first three to six months of the infant's life such a strawberry mark, made up of tiny blood-vessels, develops rapidly, and then the process slows down and parts of the lesion begin to disappear. The color fades. Then spots of blue discoloration may appear in the patch. These enlarge and run together during the second year of life. Later they fade, leaving islands of normal-appearing skin. By the time a child is from 4 to 5 years of age, most of the dull red remnants of the lesion have disappeared, leaving only more or less atrophic skin, which gradually acquires a normal texture, so that little remnant of the mark can be seen.

As Dr. Jacobs says, as long as this natural disappearance of the thing proceeds satisfactorily, treatment is not necessary. Meddling is inadvisable, because it can produce scarring.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Early Staking Needed To Protect Roots

The staking and tying of tall perennials is something which most of us leave undone.

In many gardens the prevailing summer winds are deflected by a shelter of trees, buildings or even the lay of the land. In these cases, the tall perennials will grow well without supports.

It is in open gardens where staking is most likely to be necessary, but even so, plants grown in good soil with sufficient space between them will develop sturdily, independent of supports.

Plants which have been "improved" to the point of producing huge blooms out of proportion to the strength of stem are the ones to attend to at once.

Dahlias are an example. The medium and small headed varieties need no staking, but the giant dinner plate size do. Place the stakes early, so that no damage is done to the tuberous roots.

Any other plants which you know from experience will require staking will look better if staked now. Place three slender supports around a large plant, and tie sections to each stake to preserve a natural appearance.

Tying in early June, and again by late July may be needed, and, if attended to will eliminate unsightly bunching of the plants. Many gardeners prefer to see their blooms leaning naturally than have them tied to a single stake late in the season in an ungraceful mass.

ONE DOWN—TWO TO GO

Seamen's Strike Settled—Sort Of

MONTREAL (CP)—Federal mediator H. Carl Goldenberg settled a wage dispute early today after marathon negotiations—but a Great Lakes shipping strike continued just the same.

In an unusual twist, the mediator managed to solve the deadlock between the Seafarers' International Union (SIU) and the Association of Lake Carriers without ending the strike that resulted from their wage fight.

Mr. Goldenberg and representatives from the opposing sides met at intervals all day Thursday and resumed discussions night, ending in pre-dawn hours today when the mediator called it quits until this afternoon.

Although the SIU and the association had reached a basis of agreement, the overall dispute remained unsettled because of unresolved deadlock between the owners and two other unions.

The complicated issue resulted from the fact that the two separate unions conducted negotiations jointly with the SIU, which called a strike of unlicensed seamen against two Great Lakes shipping lines May 10, taking more than 60 ships out of service.

The separate unions—the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the Association of Marine Engineers—did not join the strike directly but representatives took part in mediation negotiations that began May 10, the same day as the strike.

The some 1,000 members of the two unions, comprising deck officers and engineers, supported the SIU in the walkout, but officers in negotiations here said they did not themselves declare a strike.

A confused situation developed additional possibilities when ship-owners pledged a united front against the SIU strike, and a spokesman declared that "not a propeller will be turning on the Great Lakes at the end of this week" unless the strike is ended.

It was unofficially estimated that some 120 ships—counting the some 60 strike-bound vessels—now are tied up between St. Lawrence River ports and the Lakehead.

Sunday Sport By-Law Given Mainland Okay

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council gave approval in principle Thursday to a bill that puts the question of Sunday sport for Vancouver into the lap of the provincial government.

The bill would permit professional sport here on Sundays. It was designed to be tested before the B.C. Court of Appeal on request of the provincial cabinet.

If the cabinet asks the court for a ruling and the court decides that the by-law is valid and that the city has the right to pass it, city council will give the bill third and final reading.

The by-law is aimed at giving effect to a plebiscite last December in which a majority of a small turnout of voters approved Sunday sport.

It is the first concrete action taken since then. City and provincial governments declined to take positive steps earlier on the grounds that the Sunday sport question was out of their hands.

'Impossible Task' Facing Gunderson?

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—CCF leader Robert Strachan says the appointment of Einar Gunderson as general manager of the publicly-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is "sheer madness."

Mr. Strachan, on a speech-making tour of interior B.C., said Thursday night in an address here that former general manager R. P. F. Bowman quit the post because of provincial government interference in handling of the railway. Mr. Bowman was "pressured to the point of no return."

Mr. Gunderson, financial adviser to the provincial cabinet and previously vice-president of the PGE, was named this week as general manager. Mr. Bowman said later he resigned because some recent appointments to the railway were made without consulting him.

The CCF leader said Mr. Gunderson faces an "impossible task" as a non-railroader. "Mr. Bowman's resignation is a great loss to B.C. It indicates that the Social Credit government has again been interfering in matters about which it knows nothing."

He also hit the government for its freeze order on hospital budgets. It was taking advantage of employees who had too great a sense of responsibility to strike for wage increases.

U.S. Plans Test Area In Pacific for Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Navy said Thursday it is considering establishment of a new guided-missile range extending thousands of miles from California southwest into the Pacific ocean. Since there are no islands in the vast area, presumably-pickup ships would be used to track, observe and possibly help control the experimental missile flights.

UBC School Of Dentistry Badly Needed

The establishment of a school of dentistry at the University of British Columbia, announced Thursday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, is needed to meet a "serious shortage" of dentists in Canada, says Dr. John B. Macdonald in a 105-page report issued by the university.

Dr. Macdonald, who is chairman of the division of dental research at the University of Toronto, said the population has increased by 5,000,000 since the last of Canada's five dental schools was organized in 1926. No dental schools have been organized since that date.

"There is an acute shortage of dentists in the rural areas of British Columbia. The average annual increase of dentists is only 13—not enough to cope with the annual population increase."

"British Columbia requires a dental school immediately to remedy the present emergency and to cope with future growth."

COST SURVEY

Dr. Macdonald estimates that capital costs for a faculty of dentistry at UBC would be about $1,750,000 and that net annual operating costs would reach $280,000 per year by the time the first class in dentistry graduated.

He recommends an annual graduating class of 40 dental students plus an annual class of 20 dental hygienists to meet the present need for dentists in B.C.

In a preface to the report UBC President N. A. M. MacKenzie says Dr. Macdonald's recommendations "will have to be considered in the light of the over-all educational needs of the people of this province. It will require prolonged and intimate study before implementation."

Loggers Drilling Now to Fight Fires

NANAIMO—Weather conditions this year closely parallel those of the disastrous spring and summer of 1938, according to Angus MacBean, chief forester for Macmillan & Bloedel Ltd.

"Most people remember '38 because of the Campbell River fire in July," he said, "but there were fires in May of that year that covered from 5,000 to 6,000 acres."

"The weather now is similar," he said, "but both the industry and forest service are better organized to meet a fire hazard."

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fairly broad trade developed today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, due mostly to the more favorable developments in the attempts to settle the strike of some Great Lakes seamen. Trades were less hesitant in making commitments than in recent sessions.

Good aggressive demand appeared in reports for eastern shipping accounts and to a lesser degree in barley. Prices of both grain moved narrowly. Flax advanced in early trade but prices dropped towards the close. Rye also was irregular. Overseas business in all grains was quiet due to the upcoming long weekend.

Wheat Shipments Hit by 5-Year Low

Canadian Decline Biggest Among Major Exporters

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wheat exports dropped to a five-year low of 157,600,000 bushels in the first eight months of the current crop year while the United States widened her lead as the world's top exporter.

Canada's exports were down 15,100,000 bushels from shipments in the similar period last year. They were the lowest since the 135,900,000 of 1950-51, the bureau of statistics reported today in its monthly wheat review.

While shipments from all major exporters declined in the eight-month period, Canada showed the biggest volume drop.

The U.S., retaining the lead she recaptured last year as top exporter, shipped 180,800,000 bushels in the eight-month period, down only 7,300,000 from last year.

GIVEAWAY PROGRAM

Argentina's exports dropped to 80,500,000 bushels from 92,200,000 and those of Australia to 60,300,000 from 62,800,000.

Over-all shipments from these four major exporters declined to 479,200,000 bushels from 515,800,000 a year ago, although they were higher than the 414,800,000 of the first eight months of 1955-56.

While over-all exports declined, total stocks among the four major growers increased. They totalled 2,091,300,000 bushels April 1, up six

By BILL WALKER

The best part about the B.C. Amateur golf tournament, beginning at Gorge Vale Club today, is that there's no real favorite.

It's take your pick of a dozen or so.

The field is wide open for the major men's attraction of the season, which marks the first time in history that the popular Craigflower Road course has been host to a provincial championship.

All crack B.C. golfers are entered, while Rod Funseth of Spokane carries the foreign threat.

And Funseth could be the surprise.

A tournament-tested competitor who has been flitting with the pros on the Gold Tour for the past while, Funseth is rated among the top in the U.S.

He has been low amateur in three tournaments of late, packs a one handicap, and is a member of the U.S. Morse and Hudson Cup teams.

Court's Choices

But then if one were to ask professional Bill Court of Colwood for his pick, Bill would lean towards two Colwood aces.

"It could be Bill McColl or Laurie Kerr," says Court. "Both are hitting the ball well, and both have been practicing hard all week."

Actually, word from the Gorge gives an indication that McColl should be watched. The Gorge greens are in excellent shape, Bert Ticehurst of Vancouver, this year's mainland champion, remarking: "They're the best I've seen this year."

And good greens are up McColl's alley. He is one of the most daring and consistent putters in the west. If he's hitting the bucket, he'll be tough to head off.

Kerr won the Island championship this year at the Gorge and will be shooting for a good showing as a recommendation for a place on the B.C. Willingdon Cup team.

Bobby at Home

But ask Gorge members and they'll point to Bob Fleming as the man to beat. As one said: It's his course, he owns the club record, he's been playing more lately and fewer times has he been beaten here.

As a warm-up Fleming captured low gross honors in the Tartan Men's Wear tournament at Uplands with a three-under-par 67 on Wednesday.

Ticehurst, a former lacrosse star, liked what he shot in practice Thursday, checking in with a two-under-par 70. Blake Cramb, a junior from Powell River, also had a 70.

These are some of the favorites.

Or do you fancy Hugh Morrison, 1947 champion? Putting is his only problem.

News that Bo Winger has taken the lead in the Kansas City Open golf tournament gets a vote of approval here.

During the B.C. Open championships last year at Shaughnessy, Winger was one of the most cordial and gracious of the tourists.

He spent much of his time on the practice fairway answering queries of onlookers, explaining fundamentals, and generally went out of his way to be a real ambassador of golf.

Button competition this week saw Bill McColl and Vic Painter of Colwood retain the city lapel decorations with a win over Laurie Carroll and Gordon Verley, 5 and 3; and Captain W. J. Kempson and Charles Robertson take the seniors' competition with a 4 and 3 victory over C. N. Montague and Basil Porritt.

In honor of victory, Robertson did it up proud. Heaced the 16th and naturally gave the 19th holes a treat.

Tartan golf prize winners included Darrell Spence, low net; Gil Briscoe, second low gross; Herb Doherty, third low gross; Ron Shaw, runner-up low net; Bill Nesbit, third low net. Len French took the visitors' trophy for low net and Al Rodgers low gross honors.

Date for the B.C. match play final between Kerr and Ticehurst has been tentatively set for Sunday, May 27, in Vancouver. Confirmation by the two finalists is needed, and decision will likely be made today.

... and speaking of your long hitters, Saw a fellow come within 15 feet of the green on the 332-yard eighth hole at Colwood this week. He might have been on but his ball hit a hose. No he won't be playing in the amateur; he has other duties. He's Father "Mike" McNamara, a Roman Catholic priest. P.S. He was out of bounds on the ninth.

Whitey and Warren Know Their Job---Do It

By The Associated Press

Baseball's winningest left-handers, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Whitey Ford of New York Yankees did what comes naturally Thursday as their clubs held the top places in the major league races.

It was an eight-hit romp for both. Spahn defeating New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, 7-3, to protect the Braves' slim National League advantage over St. Louis, and Ford stopping Chicago, 10-3, as the Yankees American League cushion went up to 1 1/2 games over the idle Cleveland Indians. The White Sox had won six in a row.

Spahn, still going at 35, is the lifetime leader among NL pitchers with 186 victories, three of them this season. Ford, now 6-0 with six straight complete games, is the majors' percentage leader with a .672 mark since he joined the Yankee staff in 1950—a winning average of .753.

In other National League games, the Mizzell-Kinder Corp. combined for another St. Louis victory, this one 5-4 over Philadelphia, and Chicago Cubs finally snapped their "road jinx" and defeated Pittsburgh 4-1 behind Russ Meyer after losing their first 10 games away from home.

BRAVES' BATS BUSY

The Braves packed five extra bases among their 10 blows, including a home run by Del Crandall and a double and triple by Hank Aaron, as they made it easy for Spahn against the Giants and loser Ruben Gomez. Spahn, who fired shutouts in his last two starts, lost his scoreless string at 21 2/3 innings when Al Dark drove in a New York run in the third inning. After that, the veteran had the Giants under control until Don Mueller hit him for a two-run homer in the ninth.

BOYER RUNS WILD

The Cards, 27 percentage points behind the Braves, regained the won-lost leaders as Ken Boyer, upping his average to .418, swatted a home run, double and two singles to drive home three runs.

Harvey Haddix, the ex-Cardinal, was the victim while Ellis Kinder won his first in relief of Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell.

Ford, working his sixth straight complete game, walked only one and didn't allow a run. Starter Jack Harshman was the White Sox loser. New York had 12 hits, including Yogi Berra's 11th home run.

Winger Goes On Birdie Spree

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (BUP)—Bo Winger of Oklahoma City, who carved out an eight-under-par 64 on rounds that saw nine birdies, led the field into the second round of the $22,000 Kansas City Open today.

Par on the 6,545-yard Milburn Country Club took a heavy shelling in the first round, with all 20 leaders under the 72 count on the lush bluegrass that was in top shape, aided by recent rains.

Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, in the same threesome with Winger, was one stroke

GREEN REJOINS IRISH FOR NANAIMO CONTEST

Hardrock Art Green, a popular and scrappy competitor with the Victoria Shamrocks in their early years, will rejoin the club Saturday night in the absence of Archie Browning, who has left the team because of stomach trouble.

Green, a utility forward, will dress for Saturday night's important game with Nanaimo Timbermen in Nanaimo. The two clubs are currently tied for first place with three victories apiece.

No-Hit Menace Is This Denis

The Esquimalt-Vic West Little League took over the full minor baseball spotlight Thursday night and Denis Morris was the young man who turned on the switch.

Butlers Default

Butler Brothers of the Victoria and District Football Association's second division have defaulted the final game of their promotion-relegation series with Victoria Wests.

Wests will now remain in the league's first division. First game of the best-of-three series was won by Butlers, 2-1, while Wests took the second game, 3-2.

PREAKNESS PUZZLE

BALTIMORE (AP)—How far and how fast Needles will have to come in about the last quarter of a mile in order to catch the leaders seems to be the main question hovering over Saturday's $100,000 Preakness.

It is being taken for granted that the Kentucky Derby winner will be at the tail-end of the probable eight three-year-old starters through the early stages of the 1 1/4-mile race.

The Pimlico barn strategists, and that includes the handlers of Needles, figure Calumet Farm's Fabius, D. G. Arnstein's Eiffel Blue, W. E. Britti's No Regrets and Windy Farm's Golf Ace will be leading the way.

The question is how fast they will be going when they hit the stretch and how far Needles will be behind.

"If that Fabius gets out in front by four lengths and still is going in the stretch, he's going to be hard to catch," said Dave Erb, Needles' jockey.

Other starters are Come On Red, Count Chic, Rotherham and Fleet Feet.

Needles made up close to five lengths on Fabius in the last half-mile of the Derby two weeks ago. But the last turn is tighter, and the stretch considerably shorter at Pimlico than at Churchill Downs.

And they have a sixteenth of a mile less to go.

Also, jockey Willie Hardtack on Fabius had to move into the lead after three quarters of a mile which was sooner than he had planned because the pace was so slow. It left him with no reserve for the final sprint.

Needles' winning time of 2:03 3/5 was the slowest in the last seven derbies. Jockey Erb said Needles never was so tired after a race.

The Preakness is the fourth straight crack at a $100,000 race by Needles this year. He won the first three, the Flamingo, Florida Derby, and the Kentucky Derby.

Cudds Switch to Olson For Title Bout Tonight

Rain Showers Possible; $200,000 Gate Expected

By JACK CUDDY, United Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (UP)—The weather and the betting are unsettled for tonight's return middleweight title fight between Sugar Ray Robinson and Carl (Bobo) Olson at Wrigley Field.

From Uncle Sam's bureau came the forecast of "cool, with possible light sprinkles."

And from the Derby Club at Las Vegas, Nev., came news of increased support for Olson that might cause a late switch and send the baldish ex-champ into the ring favored to recapture the 160-pound crown.

"Our man-to-man price favoring Robinson has just dropped from 13-10 to 12-10," said a spokesman at the Derby Club. "And some of our friends in the east are quoting even money. Olson may be favored at ring time."

Thirty-five-year-old Robinson of New York and 27-year-old Olson of San Francisco will start their nationally televised and broadcast 15-rounder at 7 p.m., even if old Jube Pluvius should be drenching the ball park of the Los Angeles Angels. The sponsor paid $100,000 for the TV-radio rights, and the show must go on, according to the promoters. The ring will be protected by a canvas canopy.

As the eight box office director of the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, who are promoting the fight, estimated the advance sale at $160,000. They were uncertain if the weather would curtail the expected 17,500 fans and $200,000 gate, a record for California.

Although Olson is a three-time loser to Sugar Ray in their previous fights, he is robustly supported for this one because many boxing men believe champion Robinson's ancient legs will tire badly if the bout lasts more than seven rounds.

Aggressive Bobo, who sets a blistering pace, was favored at 3-1 at Chicago Stadium last Dec. 9 because of his youth and stamina and because Robinson had not been impressive while winning five of his six previous comeback bouts. But Sugar Ray cut loose with a burst of head punches that knocked out Bobo at 2:51 of the second round and made Robinson the first man in ring history to recapture the middleweight crown twice.

Sugar Ray, when welterweight ruler in February, 1951, wrested the middleweight crown from Jake Lamotta; but he lost it to Randy Turpin of England in July '51, and won it back from Turpin in Sept. '51. He gave up the title in '52 after collapsing in the 14th round of his attempt to win the light-heavyweight crown from Joey Maxim.

Pils Get Shock From 'Bellies

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies scored their first victory of the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League season at Queen's Park Arena here Thursday night when they defeated Vancouver Pilseners, 13-8, before 700 fans.

Bob Parry and Jack Dale each scored twice for Vancouver.

Don Hamilton, called up to the Victoria Shamrocks to take over their nets in the absence of Geordy Johnston, dropped back to the Senior B League with devastating results Thursday night.

Playing out his Senior B eligibility, Hamilton was smoking hot as the Junior Shamrocks whipped Jokers, 9-2.

Hamilton had a shutout going for 45 minutes before Morley Johnson scored Jokers' first goal. Paul Calve was the only other Jokers scorer.

Al Hayton scored three goals for the Junior Rocks with Ross Roskamp and Stew Smith each scoring twice.

THE OUTDOORS

Drop your hook in the right place Sunday and you may come up with a piece of a $4,500 prize list.

That will be the aim of a small armada of anglers who will open the annual assault on Saanich Inlet's money-lined waters this Sunday in the opening day of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association Ladder Derby.

The popular derby, which generates more summer-long enthusiasm than any of its kind, opens Sunday and will extend through to July 29. The main fishoff will be held August 19 and the Duffer's fishoff a week earlier, August 12.

For those not familiar with the derby, here is a brief rundown on how it works.

All entrants must have a VSIAA membership and a Ladder Derby ticket.

In each of the 10 qualifying weeks, there will be 50 runs open for each weekly ladder. When a salmon is entered on a weekly ladder, the derby ticket must be surrendered. The fish is then placed on a rung according to its weight. All salmon that hold one of the 50 weekly rungs are not knocked off by heavier fish will be placed on the master list, qualifying the angler to fish in the main fishoff. Any fish that is knocked off the ladder qualifies the angler for the Duffer's Derby fishoff.

Weekly Prizes, Too

An angler is eligible to occupy only one master ladder rung but, once having qualified, may fish in subsequent weeks for the weekly cash prizes. An angler who is on the Duffer's list may, at a later time, qualify for the Master Ladder with another fish.

In the case of a tie for the 50th rung on a weekly ladder, a 51st rung or more will be added.

Value of the weekly prizes will be four prizes totalling $50. There will be three prizes for the biggest three fish of the week and one hidden weight prize. The prizes will be in the form of scripts issued on sporting goods and boathouses worth $20, $10 and $5 for the three top fish of the week and $15 for the hidden weight.

The 500 master ladder rung-holders will fish-off for a glittering pile of prizes on August 19 from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The grand fishoff prizes read like this: $500 in cash, a 14-foot clinker inboard with a 3-h.p. Briggs-Stratton engine, a 7½-h.p. Evinrude outboard, Winchester pump shotgun, vacuum cleaner, Lawnboy, mahogany coffee table and a food mixer. Hidden weight prizes include three scripts, electric frying pan, Mikette and a recording reel. The Saanich Inlet Boatmen's Association will give away a featherweight Singer sewing machine and the Victoria Daily Times will present a jumbo saltwater spinning reel for the biggest coho taken.

The Duffer's prize list includes a Singer desk-model sewing machine, 21-inch Westinghouse TV set, Roto-Rock chair, dinnerware, floor polisher, food mixer, Hudson's Bay blankets and a mantel radio. Hidden weight prizes include three scripts, a throw rug, Mikette and a steam iron. The Boatmen will put up a Chippendale cutlery cabinet complete with the cutlery.

It's a little early yet for the hottest bass action but the early birds are picking off the odd smallmouth in district lakes. Alec Merriman knocked over his first this summer in Langford Lake this week while Don Ingham took a fat and sassy two-pounder out of Glen Lake Wednesday night on spinning gear. The hot weather, which brings the bass out of the depths at night and sends them into the shallows for early night feeding, may hasten the best part of the season.

Bill Renfrew will have a hard time explaining this one to the boys. The new Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association yearbook, on the two pages devoted to last year's button winners, lists Bill as the proud taker of a 225 pound, 13 ounce salmon. Slips that pass in the dark.

Small-bore snipers will be gunning for silverware this weekend at the South Vancouver Island Rangers property at Luxton.

The event is the annual Vancouver Island Small-Bore Rifle Championship Matches, featuring the best local and up-island shots.

Shooting will start at 1 Saturday and at 9 for Sunday's all-day session. There will be individual and team competition with late entries being accepted at the range, situated on the Happy Valley Road, one mile from Luxton.

United, All-Stars Resume Trophy Hunt

Victoria United and the District League All-Stars will get back to disagreeing about the Robbins Memorial trophy Saturday afternoon at Athletic Park.

The clubs meet at 2:30 in the second game of a best-of-three series. First game ended in a 3-3 deadlock last Saturday with the All-Stars coming from behind.

United, who open their Coast Soccer League summer schedule one week from tonight will have Pete Winter in goal with Bill Hope and John Pickburn at fullbacks and Joe Robbins, Harold Holroyd and coach Willie Hamilton on the half line. Centre forward Bill Abbott will have Ernie Eastlake and George Wright at insides and Cec Harrison and Ken Hibbert on the wings.

The All-Stars will select their lineup from the following strong nucleus of players: Archie McMillan, Fuzz Blair, D. McGee and Click Clarke of

Ask Barney:
He'll Sing
Slump BluesChinese Students 10
Arrows 1

"Man oh man," wailed Barney Barnswell during the seventh inning of the Victoria Senior A Men's Softball League game at Central Park Thursday evening, "ain't my boys ever going to score?"

Barney had a right to be blue. As he was speaking his "boys," Arrows, were in their 21st consecutive league inning without scoring a run and were in the process of being bombed by Chinese Students.

Arrows went through their 22nd scoreless inning over three games in the eighth, and finally pushed a run across in the ninth. It was a mite too late, however, as Students, taking their third victory in their last four starts, won going away, 10-1.

At that, Arrows finally got on the scoreboard by virtue of an error by Students' Bobby Lowe at third base, making their lone tally an unearned one.

Students went to work early in pulling to within 1½ games of league-leading Gorge Hotel.

In the second inning, Dennis Beaulac's double that skipped gingerly down the first base foul line brought in two runs. Quinton Mar's triple against the centrefield fence and three singles gave them three more in the fifth, and they made it 8-0 in the seventh with a walk and three more singles.

HOMER BY MAR

A homer by Mar over the left field fence plus a triple by Jimmy John accounted for the final scoring in the ninth.

On the other hand, Arrows were just as frustrated as their coach. Winning pitcher Beaulac set them down with six hits, two of them going to Len Anderson. Mar, who has the smooth swing of a right-handed Ted Williams, led the winners at the plate with his two power blows, while John was right behind with a single to back up his three-base blast off loser Ellis Achtem.

Arrows had Len Glancy catching for them: the first seven innings. It was Glancy's first softball appearance since early last season when he was severely injured in the eye by a ball while taking batting practice.

Next league game will be Tuesday, Gorge Hotel vs. Arrows, after the league takes some time off over the holiday weekend for a softball tournament.

Flo's Right
Handy to Take Along

Victoria Polyettes are sure to take Flo Pickering along to Vancouver with them this weekend for their three-game Inter-city Major Women's Softball League stint.

Flo proved a handy gal to have around Thursday night at Central Park by belting a two-run homer with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat Victoria Individuals, 7-5.

It was Polyettes second straight win over the senior B Individuals in their weekly meetings.

Coach John Oster, airing out his lineup in preparation for the big weekend, juggled his players considerably, but Polyettes still had trouble with losing hurler Lorraine Shields.

Lorraine gave up only eight hits, with Pickering's last-minute poke being the most decisive blow. The three pitchers employed by Oster throughout the game allowed but three hits, but walked six batters.

Individuals' big inning was the first, when they scored three runs, while Polyettes scored three of their own in the fifth.

LONDON (CP)—British Columbia Lions are considering importing one or two top-flight British rugger players in a bid to build a Grey Cup contender.

Don MacKenzie, president of the Vancouver entry in the Western Interprovincial Western Union, said Thursday he had spent two days in Scotland "looking over some good prospects."

Typist Runs Fastest
1,500 Metres Ever

HORNCHURCH, England (AP)—Mrs. Phyllis Perkins, a 22-year-old typist, Thursday night ran the fastest 1,500 metres for a woman ever recorded.

The English girl was timed for the metric mile in 4:25.4-1.6 seconds faster than the previous best by the noted Soviet distance runner, Nina Otalenko.

There is no listed world women's record for the 1,500 metres.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy, who is a prize, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions to select to answer will receive as prizes for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 30-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy, Victoria Daily Times, Victoria."

Andy sends a complete, 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" to William J. Sullivan, aged 10, of Williamsport, Penn., for his question:

Does a Squirrel Remember Where He Hides Nuts?

So far as we know, the squirrel does not depend on his memory. He usually has one main store of supplies and quite a number of smaller ones. But he could never make a list of all his pantries. However, when fresh food is scarce, he usually can find a place where he has hidden a few nuts.

Supplies are tucked away during summer and fall. Mushrooms and all kinds of seeds and berries are hoarded as well as nuts. The thrifty fellow knows just when to gather mushrooms so they will not go bad.

The main pantry will most likely be a hollow tree close to the family home. This hoard is not likely to be forgotten. Some member of the squirrel family is usually on hand to guard it. For plenty of birds and animals would like to raid a bushel or two of nuts during the hungry season.

Smaller hoards are hidden in holes in the ground. The grey squirrel may dig a hole in an old tree stump. He stuffs in one or two nuts and scampers away. Next day he may dig a hole under an elm tree root. In a few nuts and off he goes about his business.

Come fall, the ground is covered with snow. Some bright morning Mr. Squirrel comes out to feed and chatter with his neighbors. He finds a few beechnuts growing on a tree. But a woodpecker claims them and drives him away. The time has come to dig into one of his pantries.

The little fellow scampers around searching. He knows there must be food hidden around here. But where is it? The snow has covered the holes he made. It has blanketed the old tree stump and drifted high above the roots of the elm tree.

But this does not worry Mr. Bushytail one bit. He scampers about with his nose near the ground. And what a nose he has! He can smell a nut clear through the snow and way down to the hole in the ground. See! He starts to dig with all his might. And he was correct. For one, two and three plump beechnuts come to light. He sits up and nibbles them daintily one at a time. And he seems to know on which side the meat is. For he always bites into just the right spot. When the snack is eaten, he trots along. His wonderful nose will help him smell out other hoards.

Some of the small hoards are not found until the next year. Some are never found at all. In time, these nuts may grow into trees. This is fine for Mr.

pictures show that they are filmy enough to see through. The planet can be seen clearly through the inner ring. It can be seen less clearly through the bright outer ring. And the middle ring is so filmy that distant stars can be photographed through it.

At certain times the rings cast a shadow over the planet. Pictures show that they cannot be made of solid substance. Otherwise they would collapse and fall on the planet. It is thought they are made mostly of dust and debris. They are most likely swarms of meteors, large and small.

The inside ring, closest to the planet, has an openwork, crepe look. It is thought that the particles of this ring may be larger than those in the other two. In this crepe ring, there may be sizeable chunks of rock.

Andy sends a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" to Mr. Guido's students, of Salt Lake City, Utah, for the question:

What are Saturn's rings made of?

The planet Saturn is banded with three glorious rings. They come in different widths and different densities. Telescope

Daffs Can Be Refrigerated For Market, Experiment Proves

The daffodil season is over as good as the day they but not at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Saanichton. They are still being used where blooms cut on April 15 there for decorative purposes.

Its all part of an experiment to save the daffodil grower money, explained Jack Crossley, horticulturist.

The cut flowers were packed in coolers ranging between 30 and 33 degrees, and after a month placed in a room of average temperature. The tests showed that the flowers lasted as long as freshly-cut blooms.

"We sent some daffodils to an eastern dealer," said Mr. Crossley "and he thought they were freshly-cut flowers."

The tests means that daffodils which bloom too late or too early for the Easter market can now be stored and shipped to the Prairies for Mother's Day, and even later.

Several growers are now building coolers as the result of the successful experiment, they said.

'TEACH ME HOW TO CRY' LAUDED Refusal to Adjudicate Brings Festival Protest

CALGARY (CP)—A protest from the Baskins, a Calgary amateur dramatic group, will be made to the officers of the Dominion Drama Festival as soon as the final performance is given Saturday.

The protest is being taken to Sherbrooke, Que., by Mrs. Elodia Christensen of Lethbridge, president of the Alberta Drama League and the Alberta delegate to the DDF executive meeting.

The Calgary group has voiced a protest over the refusal of British actress Pamela Stirling, who adjudicated the Alberta drama festival last January, to adjudicate the play for award marks.

After the Baskins had presented The Innocents by William Archibald, Miss Stirling said that as there had been much controversy over the play in both England and France, she could not comment on it.

Later she told the players privately the play was not festival material and that it should be played to a select adult audience.

The play is an adaptation of Henry James' short story. The Turn of the Screw and concerns a new governess who gradually discovers her two young charges are in the grip of some evil influence and have been corrupted by a manservant before his death.

The nature of the corruption is not specified in the play.

The Alberta Drama League supported the Baskins in their protest over Miss Stirling's action. The league will ask the Dominion Drama Festival executive to adopt a resolution calling on officers to tell adjudicators they must adjudicate all plays presented at the various provincial festivals.

During the three-day conference

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Suzanne Finlay, winner of the best actress award in the central Ontario regional finals, starred again Thursday night at the University of Toronto Drama Festival.

The week-long competition for top amateur theatre honors continues tonight with Charles Morgan's The River Line by the Calgary Workshop 14 Associated.

Adjudicator Francoise Ross said 25-year-old Mrs. Finlay's portrayal of the shy, lonely teenager, Melinda Grant, was "very, very charming and very good."

WESTERN-BORN AUTHOR

The play, written by Alberta-born Patricia Joudry, was "extremely poetic and a lovely story," the adjudicator said. "It was a wonderful production."

More than 1,000 theatre-goers, including Miss Joudry, who now lives in Toronto, watched the performance of the radio, television and Broadway success.

Directed by Leon Major with original music by Dr. Richard Johnston of Toronto, the play was the moving story of two adolescents who stood apart from the crowd, and, in a modern, North American small-town setting, found each other.

Teach Me How to Cry is one of two Canadian plays entered in this year's festival. The second, Les Insolites by Montreal writer Jacques Langrand, will be performed Saturday night by La Compagnie de Montreal.

A three-day theatre conference, held in conjunction with the festival rounded off Thursday with a visit to the oldest summer theatre in the country.

Nearly 100 members from the eight casts at the festival, plus directors, producers and amateur theatre supporters, visited Brae Manor Theatre at Knowlton, 40 miles west of here.

Purpose was to study the operation of a summer theatre and theatrical facilities, said Mrs. Norma Springfield, acting theatre conference chairman.

Mrs. Springfield, producer at Mountain Playhouse in Montreal, said the annual theatre conferences help bridge the feeling of isolation between acting groups scattered across Canada.

Discussions of problems and points of view and informal "shop-talk" gatherings during festival week were as important to Canadian theatre as the presentation of competing plays, she said.

London Bishop At Cathedral On Sunday

The special preacher in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at both morning and evening services will be the Bishop of Stepney, Rt. Rev. Joost de Blank, widely known as a preacher and an evangelist.

After serving the Church with distinction in various posts, including a chaplainship of the forces, he was appointed Bishop of Stepney in 1952. He is one of four suffragan bishops in the great Diocese of London.

He is visiting Canada in the interests of the campaign of evangelism now being conducted by Anglicans in this country.

A public meeting will be held in Christ Church Memorial Hall, Monday at 2 p.m. when the public will be given an opportunity to meet Bishop de Blank.

Comedy Dominates Festival, Even Sam Payne Gets Laughs

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

Comedy and humor of various types dominated Thursday evening's program of the Vancouver Island Drama Festival finals as three more plays were presented at Oak Bay Junior High School.

Even adjudicator Sam Payne got into the act and drew a big laugh from the audience when he commented of "Eros at Breakfast," "it was very good—seeing it was done by women!"

However, Mr. Payne did not intend a libel on women, but only to point out that Robertson Davies' satiric fantasy was written to be played by a predominantly male cast.

Of the Jubilee Hospital Nurses' production he remarked that it had been played with considerable strength and vigor, but that some of the subtleties of satire had been missed. Costumes and set had been excellent, he thought, and in general, it was well done.

Duncan Little Theatre Guild, one of the winners for the central Island zone festival, presented an original script by A. L. Bowron, entitled "Ten Yards of Calico." Setting for this play was the interior of a pioneer log cabin in the Sooke area in 1853.

Mr. Payne gave high praise to the performances of Dorothy Cook and Bob Lewis. He felt the group had done the show well despite the fact he considered some parts "didn't come off." These failures were due, in his opinion, to a mixture of styles in the writing of the play.

That time-honored classic of Russian slapstick, Tchekoff's "The Marriage Proposal," represented the north Island zone and was performed by the E. D. A. Players of Errington.

On the whole Mr. Payne considered that this was quite well done though a little slow at moments. However there were some really good bits in it and all the actors had done a fine job, the adjudicator declared.

He had praise for each member of the cast but was particularly pleased with the work of Norman Robinson who played the volcanic sultor.

Tonight at 8, the Civil Service Players' Guild will open the third and final evening of competition with "The Invisible Worm." George Bernard Shaw's "Dark Lady of the Sonnets" will be performed by the Duncan Little Theatre Guild and

X-Ray Branch At Jubilee Given Boost

More satisfactory examination of infants and children is assured at Royal Jubilee Hospital this week by installation of new X-ray equipment valued at $28,000.

A new radiographic unit and combination fluoroscopic and radiographic unit with a relatively short exposure time will replace equipment installed nearly 20 years ago.

Cost was met 40 per cent by federal government and 20 per cent by provincial government grants.

The installation was in line with an equipment renovation program which was instituted recently and now has cost more than $50,000.

During 1955 more than 18,000 X-rays were performed, 4,000 more than for the same period five years ago.

MAINTAINS PACE

The program has kept the hospital's Louisa Todd Memorial department of radiology completely up-to-date, say hospital officials.

Royal Jubilee Hospital received its first X-ray machine in 1890, just two years after the hospital was wired for electricity. A second machine was purchased in 1910. By 1936 the X-ray department was reported to be one of the most modern and well-equipped on the continent.

Equipping was made possible by bequest of Charles Todd in memory of his wife, Louisa.

Reverent Start For Celebration

1,000 Children Gather In Patriotic Ceremony

A simple, reverent patriotic ceremony which has been observed on lawns of the Legislative Buildings for 36 years was repeated this morning by more than 1,000 Greater Victoria school children, IOOE, cadet corps, bands and others.

Traditionally, the Empire Day service opens Victoria Day weekend festivities by paying homage to the city's name-sake—Queen Victoria—at her monument.

A fanfare of trumpets announced arrival of IOOE standard bearers bringing the colors to the service past Queen Victoria's statue where a guard of one Girl Guide, Boy Scout, Air Cadet and Sea Cadet was mounted.

The 50-member Oak Bay Schools Band played, "Land of Hope and Glory" as the color party arrived, then "O Canada" and "Land of Our Birth" before Canon George Biddle, St. John's Anglican Church, gave the invocation.

A massed choir of grade six

HARNESS RACING DATES SET

Ascot Jockey Club officials this week confirmed a promise made last year that the Sandown Track harness racing season would be increased to 14 days this year.

Dates released this week by track officials show that the season will start on June 30 with other dates on July 2, 4, 6, 7 and July 11, 12, 13, 14 and July 18, 20, 21, 25, 27 and 28.

Big Population, Prosperity Zoom Seen for Island

Third of Million Here by 1975

Over one-third of a million persons will make their home on Vancouver Island by 1975.

By the three-quarter mark of the century, per capita income on the island will reach $2,000 a year.

Manufacturing output of Island industries will reach a value of $375,000,000, more than three times the present value, by 1975.

These rosy predictions for booming Vancouver Island were made Thursday by Tom Sturges, deputy trade and industry minister, in a speech before Victoria Rotary.

According to Mr. Sturges, the next 20 years will see Vancouver Island's population climb from its present 235,000 to 390,000.

He said present retail trade of $187,000,000 will skyrocket to $325,000,000 by 1975. In the same period, net production value in manufacturing will climb from $115,000,000 to $375,000,000.

AUTOS TO DOUBLE

Mr. Sturges said the provincial government experts estimate the number of motor vehicles on the highways of the Island 20 years from now will hit 160,000, double the present 80,000.

The present per capita annual income on the island is $1,500 a year. This will reach $2,000 a year by 1975, Mr. Sturges predicted.

He told Rotary members the present industrial payroll of the Island is approximately $125,000,000, which includes all service industries as well as manufacturing.

No estimate is available for 1975.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Ontario, Sioux arrive San Francisco Saturday, return Esquimalt 10 a.m. May 23.

USS Diodon (submarine) at Esquimalt, leaves a.m. May 25.

HERE FOR FESTIVITIES

Drum Major John Wallace Rants and majorettes Donna Rhodes and Loreene Bergman, left to right, of Western Washington College Band will be among highest steppers in Grand Victoria Day Parade Monday. Colorful outfit include 70 students. They will also appear at Pageant Sunday.

HOLIDAY WEEKEND PROGRAM

Record Crowds Expected At Victoria Day Events

Record crowds are expected at all Greater Victoria Celebrations events this weekend due to continuing warm weather unequalled in recent years.

Celebrations officials look to the most successful series of events.

"We're ready to go, the rest is up to the public," committee men said.

Victoria's Mayor Percy Scurrell called on residents to support the local attractions.

"Our district celebrations are gaining stature throughout the Pacific Northwest. Because of the number of free events, the program is always a borderline operation financially. The best way to assure its continuance is by citizens' support in attendance."

School Sports

District youngsters kicked off their celebrations a day early with school sports this afternoon. But the first major attraction will be the queen crowning ceremonies at 7.30 p.m. at the Parliament Buildings.

Mayor Percy Scurrell will place the crown upon the head of pretty Marilynne June Dawson, 17, Shrine Band will be in attendance as a musical guard of honor.

Sunday will open with official Victoria Day church services. ### BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

Purely personal (if not personally pure).

I have decided today is my birthday. According to my birth certificate, I was born on May 24, somewhere down the distant, dusty corridors of history.

But I have decided this is all wrong, and for this year, at least, my birthday will be celebrated on May 18.

And do not tell me I can't get away with it. Why not? They are celebrating May 24 on May 21 this year (I don't know who "they" might be—probably the vested interests or usually reliable sources or some similar mysterious group).

Well, if "they" expect me to follow along meekly, and have my May 24 birthday on May 21, same as Queen Victoria, they are mistaken.

Queen Victoria may have no objection to having her birthday pushed around, but I have.

I will accept a certain amount of regimentation, such as celebrating July 1 on July 2.

But nobody is going to tell me when to celebrate my birthday?

Therefore, being of more or less sound mind, I hereby declare and proclaim this, the 18th day of May, 1956, as my birthday.

Happy birthday to me, and thanks for all the letters and cards.

Speaking of birthdays, I would hate to be Queen Elizabeth II.

Queen Elizabeth was born on April 21, which one would think would be her birthday.

But one would be wrong.

In England, Queen Elizabeth's birthday is May 31.

In Victoria, Queen Elizabeth's birthday is May 21, same as Queen Victoria's (but not mine—remember I'm May 18).

This would seem to be rather hard lines on a woman, even if she is a queen. Imagine, three birthdays in one year—and spaced so closely together, the poor woman becomes three years older within six weeks.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.

The obvious solution to this birthday problem, shared mutually by Queen Victoria, Queen Elizabeth, and me, is to adopt the method used for thoroughbred race horses.

They all have their birthdays on the same day.

If human beings would only be sensible and follow the same logical idea, what a whale of a birthday party we could all have.

Vice-Principal At Vic High Gets UBC Appointment

Vice-principal at Victoria High School, Robert H. Heywood, will resign Tuesday to assume an associate professorship at University of British Columbia, he announced today.

Mr. Heywood, who has taught commercial courses at the high school for 27 years, will join the school of commerce at the university. His new appointment takes effect July 1. He will be concerned principally with instruction to teachers-in-training, he stated.

Lumber Sales To Overseas Down by Half

Lumber shipments out of Victoria for overseas ports are down almost 50 per cent to date this year, compared with the same period last year.

Nearly all of the reduction is due to the softening of the United Kingdom market, according to local shipping men.

So far, this has been the slackest post-war year for deep-sea shipping, not only in Victoria, but other Island ports.

A B.C.-wide survey of the lumber industry shows that sales to UK are down 45 per cent—from 186,854,000 board feet in the January-April period of 1955, to 104,417,000 board feet for the same period this year.

Lumbermen place the blame on two factors: easing of lumber restrictions in the UK, and the British "credit squeeze."

The UK government recently decided to release, for private use, 75 per cent of the country's strategic lumber reserve.

British Trade Commissioner P. B. Hunt of Vancouver said Thursday: "We could buy much more of Canada's goods than we are doing, but the trouble is, the amount we buy from you depends on the amount we sell to you. We must sell to earn the dollars with which to buy."

On the brighter side, the commissioner said that British exports to Canada this year are already 25 per cent above the similar period last year.

Caterpillar Plague Peak Crawling Nearer

A plague of caterpillars, one of the worst in recent years, is expected to reach its peak within about two weeks.

Entomologists have warned that the pests already are leaving their nests and have begun stripping trees, but that there is still time to do effective spraying to control them.

DPT spray or dust, or malathion, are effective in controlling the caterpillars. According to the experts, it should be sprayed on foliage and fences, since the pests can be killed not only by eating poisoned leaves, but by contact with the poison on the ground.

Already hundreds of trees have been defoliated by the ravenous crawlers, especially in Saanich where no municipal attempts were made to control them. The city, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Central Saanich curbed the plague to a certain extent with spraying programs early in the spring.

All trees along certain roads on the Saanich peninsula have been stripped of their foliage.

W. H. Warren, city parks administrator, said today that since parks and boulevards have been sprayed—civic appropriations for this purpose are almost expended—similar action in private property will see the pests well under control.

According to the entomologists, continued warm weather and sunshine will send the caterpillars migrating from their tents in search of food.

The plague will ebb when parasites begin to kill the caterpillars—nature's way of controlling pests. Science can do nothing to control the plagues, that occur at seven or eight-year intervals, without upsetting the balance of nature.

BARELY A LEAF REMAINS on these trees on Cedar Hill Cross Road, but the tents of caterpillars are only two ob-vious. At top left is closeup of a group of nearly-mature crawlers, on the verge of extending their operations to greener trees and fields as yet untouched by the voracious hordes. (Times Phot.)

Be Prepared for Onslaught On Pantries This Weekend

By PENNY SAVER

This is the beginning of the long weekend, and food supplies are going to take a beating, for picnics, snacks, rush lunches and family holiday dinners will leave your pantry rather bare if you're not prepared. It looks as if the weather will draw crowds outdoors, so that means sun-time foods are in order. Almost anything that will pamper your palate is yours for the asking. Take a close look, and you'll find all kinds of holiday goods.

Did you know that... A salad can be whipped together in no time at all, and all the salad items are available to make it the best salad ever.

Radishes and green onions are 10 cents a bunch in most places and in one shop I found locally grown green onions selling at two bunches for 19 cents. Dessert tomatoes are 32 cents a pound; hothouse, 39 cents a pound, and sweet and juicy local hothouse tomatoes about the same price. Seedless cucumbers are 30 cents each, and regular, crispy cukes are the same price. Lettuce is 18 cents a head, celery, 20 cents.

The produce stores have a wonderful, enticing aroma around them that is a part of summer, for sure. It's of strawberries. Nothing smells quite the same or makes me hungry faster than this delicious smell. Little basket costs 35 cents and extra large berries are 43 cents.

Holiday foods always are watermelon and cantaloupe. There's something about their sweet, cool taste that makes them a favorite everywhere.

Double-Ring Ceremony Held In Metropolitan United

Miss Bonnie Marleen Irvine, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Avery Irvine, Cedar Hill Road, entered Metropolitan United Church on the arm of her father for her wedding to Kenneth William Curl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurnham Curl, West Saanich Road, Royal Oak.

The petite, fair-haired bride was gowned in a white satin and billowing nylon net floor-length bridal dress she had designed. The bodice of Chantilly lace was fashioned with a high neckline, Peter Pan collar and long lily point sleeves. Her fingertip veil was edged in fine lace and was held to a coronet of wax orange blossoms which had been worn by former brides of the family. White feathered carnations, forget-me-nots and tiny rosebuds made up her colonial bouquet from which long ribbons streamed.

Maid of honor, Miss Sharon Plows, wore a pale yellow waist-length gown of embroidered net with taffeta sash with bustle bow and short jacket of matching net. Carnations and spring flowers of yellow, pink and blue were in her colonial bouquet and her headpiece was of matching blossoms. Miss Tanga Delane Irvine, junior bridesmaid, sister of the bride, wore a ballerina-length gown of soft blue nylon over silk posed over pink lace-trimmed crinolines. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses, blue sweet peas and yellow marguerites.

When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Curl will make their home at 4048 Zimma Avenue. Miss Vicki-Lee Irvine was flower girl, and wore a short frock of rose-petal pink nylon posed over pink-edged crinolines. She carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas, forget-me-nots and a single pink rose with pink and blue streamers. Her head garland was of pink and white flowers.

Best man was Edwin Corbett, and ushers Noel Barrie Irvine and Grant Curl.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. F. E. H. James in a setting of spring flowers. Snapdragons, tulips and bluebells formed the floral background. Mrs. Larry Pollock was soloist and sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

A reception was held at Norway House following the ceremony. Narcissus, lilac, tulips and carnations decorated the archway where the wedding party received guests. A lace cloth covered the bride's table, where the three-tier wedding cake was centered, flanked by white candles and pink rosebuds. Lily of the valley and forget-me-nots topped the cake. Ken Berkey of Duncan proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a California honeymoon, Mrs. Curl wore a light blue tailored suit of material the same as the groom's. Her accessories were white and blue, and her corsage of pink carnations, lily of the valley, laceron and tulip.

Lasses in Glasses Make Headlines: Now They Match Specs With Clothes

By KITTY DIXON

It's glasses for glamor first, necessity second, this summer.

The idea is, to match pastel and bright-colored dresses, blouses and sportswear with the frames of your glasses. Of course, this means a whole wardrobe of glasses. It's revolutionary, I know, but as blonde Ronnie Burkett, winner of the "most beautiful girl to wear glasses in Canada" contest, says in a recent Canadian Press story:

"I believe a woman should put as much care and money into selecting spectacles as she does into jewelry."

Ronnie has 11 pairs and hopes to make it 15 or 20 before long.

The "glamor first" trend is catching on across Canada to such an extent that many girls are wearing glasses with clear or tinted lenses, just so they can match the pretty frames with their dresses.

However, a little research, locally, showed that Victoria is behind the pace being set by eastern girls.

Most opticians regard a five-pair spectacle wardrobe "outstanding" in Victoria. And there is no such thing (as far as I could discover) as a girl with 15 or 20 pairs, as suggested by "The Most Beautiful Girl to Wear Glasses in Canada" person.

This doesn't mean the new match-your-wardrobe frames aren't available in the city. They are very much so, and opticians naturally think the new trend is the greatest since Meissner first advocated spectacles.

Potential customers interviewed think the idea is "fantastic" but at the same time "sensational."

They eagerly slipped the frames on, viewed themselves in mirrors and made such exclamations as:

"Ooh... these would go perfectly with my new summer formal!"

Or, "I think I'll get this pair made up with sunglasses lenses in my own prescription."

Victoria girls can be outfitted with pretty glasses to wear from dawn to dawn, every day of the week.

Pearly-white frames look stunning with a suntan and a white linen suit, I discovered. And pastel frames with pale summer frocks look like stick candy, good enough to eat.

There are striped and spotted frames which go with crisp summer blouses, and bold colors or unusual patterns such as leopard spots, to wear with bathing suits and other sportswear.

But safety pins and bassinets await the girl who fascinates.

The days of owl lenses and yellowed horn-rims undoubtedly envisioned by Nash are gone forever. Now the girl who selects her glasses with imagination can be more "fascinating" when she's bespectacled than when she's not!

For evening wear, you'll find frames sprinkled with tiny rhinestone "stardust," or for the larger face, elaborate "jewel" trim.

Most expensive-looking frames seen locally are those made of the "new, miracle metal" Turium, which looks for all the world like purest gold... and which, I am told, will outwear wrought iron, well, almost.

Everyone asked seems to like the idea, so it's probable that Victoria's lovelies will blossom forth in an array of summery glasses, before long.

I think Ogden Nash dated himself with this one: "A girl who is bespectacled will never get her neck tickled."

But safety pins and bassinets await the girl who fascinates.

Mrs. R. Jorde, left, pours tea at the Swedish afternoon of the Folk Festival tea. Mrs. R. Fjermestad, centre, also presided at the head table, and Mrs. A. Gilstein was hostess. Sand Tarts were a feature of this tea.

Swedish Costumes Worn At Gay Folk Festival Tea

The gay red and white colorings of the Swedish "Hardanger" costume were worn by those who served, greeted and poured tea for guests, yesterday afternoon, at the Swedish tea in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

Only dark dress among them was a beautifully hand-embroidered Swedish costume, worn by Mrs. R. Fjermestad, who has just recently come from Sweden. Her dress was made in the country's Gudbrandsdalen valley, and is one of Sweden's oldest national costumes, one which is worn on days of celebration.

Richly-colored handworked flowers pattern the bodice and encircle the hemline of the full-length skirt. The costume is of fine, navy blue wool.

The Swedish tea, third in a series of Folk Festival teas sponsored by the Canadian Folk Society, featured a host of authentic Swedish delicacies. There were rosetbakels, "rosettes" of eggs and sugar boiled in fat; berlinerkranser, intriguing circles made of boiled and raw eggs, mixed and baked with sugar and flour; frstetkake, an apple-filled delicacy and vaffles—cheese waffles.

Some of the favorite treats of the afternoon were Sandkaker, or sand tarts, and Mrs. A. Gilstein let us have her recipe.

SAND TARTS
Half pound butter, 1 cup icing sugar, 3/4 pound chopped almonds, 2 eggs and 4 1/2 cups flour. Melt butter, add sugar and stir until white. Add almonds together with beaten eggs. Then add flour. Let dough cool. Use a set of special fluted cake tins the size of small muffins. Place a lump of dough in middle of each. Then work the dough with both thumbs to cover inside of tin as thinly as possible. Bake to a golden brown. Turn tins upside down to remove cookies.

Swedish flags and red, white and blue tulips, narcissus and iris decorated the head table at which Mrs. R. Jorde and Mrs. Fjermestad presided.

Those serving guests were Mrs. Gwen Solheim, Miss Sylvia Berg and Mrs. Josie Szpradowski. Mrs. B. Turnquist took door receipts.

A Danish tea was held this afternoon and Saturday, 4:30 p.m. A Scottish tea will be held, entertainment at the Scottish tea will include pipers and Highland dancers.

GENUINE HEIRLOOM

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (CP)—When Susan Jane MacLeod, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max MacLeod of Trenton, N.S., was baptized recently she wore the christening dress that belonged to her great-great-grandmother.

The dress of fine lawn cotton material was stitched by hand in the late 1700s. The skirt, in the style of that period, is more than three feet long with inserts of hand-made lace.

The family said attempts to determine how many children have been christened in the same dress have been unsuccessful.

Harkness Finished, Not Nickle, Says Low

OTTAWA (CP) — Social Credit leader Low today described as "a complete perversion" a Canadian Press story on a statement he made in the Commons pipeline debate Tuesday night.

He referred to a CP story Tuesday night that erroneously quoted Mr. Low as saying Carl Nickle, PC, Calgary South, by his stand on the cross-country natural gas pipeline issue, "has killed himself in Alberta and, when the next election rolls around he will find out exactly what I mean."

"The people of Alberta are going to question the position he has taken," the story quoted Mr. Low as adding.

Mr. Low pointed out in the Commons today, however, that he had referred his remarks to Douglas Harkness, PC, Calgary North and not Mr. Nickle.

Mr. Nickle has split from his party in consistently supporting the government proposal to loan Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. up to $80,000,000 to build the Alberta-to-Winnipeg leg of the 2,200-mile line this year. So has the Social Credit group.

"I said that Mr. Harkness has killed himself," said Mr. Low.

Mr. Harkness has joined other Conservative Commons members in vigorously opposing the government proposal.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS APARTHEID

CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — The Cape Province Supreme Court today upheld the validity of controversial acts passed by South Africa's Nationalist government reducing the voting rights of colored mixed blood voters.

If their challenge had succeeded, all legislation passed during the present session of Parliament would have been invalidated.

Thieves Flee After Smashing Store Window

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two smash-and-grab thieves missed a fortune in gems Thursday when they apparently lost their nerve and fled after attempting a daring daylight theft.

Hundreds of downtown shoppers saw the two young men attempt to loot the W. H. Grassie Ltd. jewelry store of an estimated $125,000 in diamond rings and necklaces, part of a special display.

The thieves, who smashed the window with a 17-inch piece of pipe, fled at the approach of store manager Walter McElroy, 28, former Canadian amateur golf champion.

"I ran out of the building and could have climbed into the car with the guys—but I thought I'd get shot. So I ran back and phoned police."

The thieves fled in a stolen car which had been parked nearby. In their flight they crashed into another car, rushed off on foot and then escaped in a convertible parked a few blocks away.

Ted Baron, 24, a witness, said he didn't think they were able to snatch any of the jewelry. "They didn't have time."

British A-Device H-Bomb Defence?

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—Observers at Wednesday's nuclear test in the Monte Bello Islands believe Britain may be on the verge of achieving a defence against the atom bomb.

They believe the test was an experiment with a small tactical weapon—small enough to be used as a warhead in guided defence missiles.

The observers also believe that the test was designed not to show what the Monte Bello weapon could do, but what it could not do. They have dubbed the weapon a "Boffin's bomb." "Boffin" is British slang for a research scientist.

Among apparent inconsistencies which first puzzled the observers at the test was the fact that no structures were built to test the destructive power of the weapon. Its effects were recorded only on scientific instruments.

LITTLE RAIDO ACTIVITY

The radioactivity from the weapon was comparatively small, and was quickly dispersed. This would be necessary for a defensive weapon which would be detonated close to any homeland being defended.

The weapon was exploded about 100 miles from the Australian coastal township of Onslow, and unprotected sailors in the atomic task force were within 12 miles of the testing site.

It is believed that scientists were even closer, in concrete shelters on a nearby island. Britain has already demon-scale work will be undertaken at the Woomera rocket range of missiles which will require the whole of the 1,500 miles of the Australian desert range for testing.

The pattern of Wednesday's tests at Monte Bello, and these reported plans at Woomera, all indicate to observers that Britain is preparing to test a guided missile of great range and height, capable of carrying an atomic warhead.

Serta—the "Perfect Sleeper" mattress—already famous elsewhere for its marvelous new principles of sleep comfort—has arrived and is now available in British Columbia. Serta will help you to have a more restful night's sleep than you've ever enjoyed with any mattress, because it is "Health Engineered" for perfect sleep support. This revolutionary new kind of mattress has passed rigid tests to win the unqualified approval of the nation's leading orthopedic specialists, who joined in a coast-to-coast survey to determine exactly the qualities a mattress must have to ensure a really good night's sleep for you.

Nation-wide survey of doctors prove, SERTA "PERFECT SLEEPER" Mattress built with qualities judged most important by leading specialists.

Medical X-Rays Show You Actual Proof!

RIGHT WAY
Extra-firm Serta Mattress with "Unimatic" construction assures level, head-to-toe support approved by doctors. Aids relaxation, gives "Posture Protection."

WRONG WAY
Ordinary "soft" mattress lets spine sag and twist; can cause muscle strain, threatens good posture. By clinging to body, causes overheating, restless sleep.

KNOW ANY OF THEM?

Even the weight of 1908 bathing suits and bushy moustaches was overcome by enthusiasm of these early Gorge swimmers of the Gorge YMCA camp.

The picture, sent from Australia, doubtless includes several persons well-known to readers. Can you link them with their names?

'Good Old Days' at Gorge Recalled by Nostalgic Aussie

YMCA officials here were reminded this week of the "good old days" of the Gorge through a letter and snapshot sent from Queensland, Australia, by nostalgic oldest, Jesse Stokes.

It is as if the writer's mind was in tune with those of old-timers here; as if vibrations of the health board plans to declare the Gorge open were causing ripples of memory around the world.

Mr. Stokes writes, "The happiest time I ever had was in Victoria, connected with YMCA... 1907-1912." This was the era of the Gorge YMCA camp which bordered the lagoon west of the Esquimalt side of Gorge Park.

In those days, many of Victoria's young men lived at the camp all summer, swimming every morning, before hiking in to work, returning in the evening to soak and sun as long as daylight lasted.

Mr. Stokes, who now is 70 and father of four sons, dates his picture at 1908. He has not returned here since, he states, having served and been wounded in the Royal Navy before settling "down under." While here he worked in the Sheriff's office and in the Empress Hotel.

He forgets the names of his companions in the picture, and does not even identify himself, but another Gorge water baby who is still active in water sports here, helps out.

Archie McKinnon, well-known YMCA swim instructor and former Olympic swimming and track and field coach thinks the Y camp then included Charlie Hopper, recently retired from provincial civil service. "He was my first swim coach."

"Warren Long also was a keen enthusiast, and Dr. Fred Harling who later lost his life trying to help a couple who capsized in Foul Bay. There was Frank Crompton, boys' secretary at the "Y" for years, his brother Frank, Tom Gawley, former physical director at Portland, Ore., who still resides there. He remembers other members were Fred Carne, Stan Young, W. W. Duncan.

Mr. Stokes lists A. J. Brace, W. G. Findlay, J. Stokes, G. Margison, F. Finlay, H. Roscamp, C. Barrett, R. Holt, Bert Dinsdale, R. Hull, G. Kiddie. There were T. Dalzell, W. Warren, W. Griffin, W. B. Fisher, J. Pettigrew, also among names in clippings held by Mr. Stokes. They served on a lifeboat crew manned by the "Y".

Mat Halton Canadian Club Speaker May 30

Foreign correspondent Matthew Halton, OBE, will address Victoria Canadian Clubs May 30 at Empress Hotel. He is chief European correspondent for Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Men's Canadian Club will hear him at a noon luncheon, after which he will speak to Women's Canadian Club.

He was born in Pincher Creek, Alta., in 1901, attended University of Alberta and graduated in 1929 to attend University of London, England, on an IOE scholarship. He studied two years at King's College and London School of Economics.

Mr. Halton became London correspondent for the Toronto Star in 1932, a position he held until 1943 when he joined the CBC as senior war correspondent. He has been chief European correspondent since the end of the Second World War. Theatres in which he served include Spanish Civil War, Finnish Russian War and campaigns in Burma, North Africa, Syria, Italy and northwestern Europe from D-Day to V-E Day.

2 Lawyers Freed From Newsman's Assault Charges

TORONTO (CP)—Charges of common assault against two Toronto lawyers were withdrawn in court by the Toronto Telegram Thursday after an apology was tendered by the lawyers.

The charges were laid against Alan H. Crabtree and Allan Graham after a Telegram reporter and photographer allegedly were assaulted outside Osgoode Hall, home of the Law Society of Upper Canada and the Supreme Court of Ontario.

The newspaper men were covering the accidental death of Herbert Atwood, law society clerk who fell over a bannister and down a stairwell.

Russians Seize Japanese Fishboats

A note has been sent to Japanese officials in Moscow asking them to approach the Russians toward releasing the ships.

Farmers to Hit Railway Bid for Freight Boost

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition was shaping up to a railway request for a 15-per-cent increase in freight rates.

President H. H. Hannam of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture complained Thursday in a statement that farmers would be hard hit by a general increase.

The railways are seeking the increase to meet wage boosts to their 150,000 non-operating employees which total approximately $60,000,000 a year.

In addition to the farm group all provinces, with the exception of Quebec and Ontario, likely will oppose the increase at public hearings commencing June 11.

In Edmonton J. J. Frawley, freight rates counsel for the Alberta government, said all four western provinces likely will object to the railways' application to the board of transport commissioners.

Dollar Areas Can Buy Bond 'Premiums'

LONDON (Reuters)—Henry Brooke, financial secretary to the treasury, said Thursday he saw no reason why overseas investors should not be allowed to buy the new British premium bonds on the same terms they can buy other British savings securities.

Conservative member of Parliament Lady Tweedsmuir, who had raised the point in the House of Commons, said there was great interest in the bonds in the dollar area and hoped the treasury could ease currency exchange difficulties.

Labor member Harold Wilson asked whether Brooke meant that the British government would allow prizes won by overseas investors to be sent overseas and whether money so sent would include dollars.

Brooke asked Wilson to wait until the actual terms of the premium bond plan were announced.

Under the plan, tax-free prizes up to $1,000 will be given. The project was announced last month by Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan as a means to boost savings.

Lady Tweedsmuir is the wife of Lord Tweedsmuir, son of John Buchan, novelist and former governor-general of Canada.

Saanich Man Pays $250 Fine; Owned Smuggled Goods

A Saanich mechanic was fined $250 and $5 costs or three months in jail when he appeared in Saanich police court today charged with illegal possession of smuggled car parts.

Grant King, 1666 McRae, was charged after an RCMP search of his home uncovered $548 worth of race-car parts which had illegally entered Canada in February.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday.

RCMP said the parts were being used in construction of a race car which King was building for another person.

Among the parts were an engine head, racing pistons, cam shafts, a crankshaft and eyegoggles.

Penalties under the Customs Act for the offence is a fine of from $200 to $1,000, or a sentence of from one to four years, or both.

Thursday, King was also fined $30 or five days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding a 50 mph speed limit on Patricia Bay Highway May 4.

Police said he was paced at 70 mph.

Gorge Officially Declared 'Clean'

Gorge waters received their official "clean bill of health" from Victoria-Esquamalt and Saanich medical health officers today.

An announcement by Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy and Dr. A. N. Beatty said "The waters of the Gorge come well within approved standards required for safe bathing."

Recommended was construction of beaches at the old free bathing area below Tillicum Bridge and on the site of the old Japanese Tea Garden.

Official declaration of opening of public swimming is subject to provisions.

First, opening dates will be set each year by health authorities following a sanitary survey and sampling of the water. It is pointed out that because of winter drainage from Colquitz River and Craigflower Creek, it is essential to determine that ground water has dried up before swimming starts.

Secondly, opening depends on a weekly check on a sewer pumping station adjacent to the Gorge by Saanich engineering department. A breakdown could cause contamination to reach the Gorge near Inez Street.

Finally, the health authorities ask that before crowds take to the two approved beaches, sand be dumped to a depth of four inches, with renewals at intervals.

This should be continued until there is a sandy bottom to a depth of three feet. Sanitary facilities must be provided for both sexes and dressing rooms and drinking water provided. A roped off area should be established for children and a lifeguard in attendance.

All of these conditions are already being fulfilled or considered by intermunicipal authorities.

The ban on Gorge swimming, though ignored by many youngsters, has been in effect since 1938 due to the presence of pollution caused by residential septic tanks. In recent years sewers have replaced the tanks and sanitary inspectors recommended the area be re-opened.

Gorge Waterway Improvement Association is currently investigating methods to finance a dredging program.

LAST RITES HELD FOR FATHER DICK

OTTAWA (CP)—Blue naval uniforms blended with black and white nuns' habits today at funeral rites for one of the victims of Tuesday night's crash of an RCAF jet fighter into a Roman Catholic convalescent home.

A funeral mass was held in 100-year-old St. Patrick's church for Rev. Richard Ward, 42, of Toronto, assistant chaplain of the fleet and also chaplain at the destroyed convent. Another mass will be held in Toronto where burial will take place.

Vice-Admiral Harry DeWolf, chief of naval staff, headed the large group of naval officers attending the rites.

an opinion" on the inclusion of the Clayquot public working circle in B.C. Forest Products Ltd. management licence on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Gibson asked Dr. Orchard whether he remembered stating "I have never given my approval to B.C. Forest Products licence?"

"I can't recall definitely making that statement," said Dr. Orchard. He then added, "I don't say for a minute I didn't make that statement."

"Was it done whether you approved or not?" asked Mr. Gibson.

"I wasn't asked for an opinion."

Mr. Gibson asked "who was it who approved it (taking in the public working circle, generally considered the preserve of small loggers)?"

"I don't know," the chief forester answered.

Loggers Drilling Now to Fight Fires

NANAIMO—Weather conditions this year closely parallel those of the disastrous spring and summer of 1938, according to Angus MacBean, chief forester for Macmillan & Bloedel Ltd.

"Most people remember '38 because of the Campbell River fire in July," he said, "but there were fires in May of that year that covered from 5,000 to 6,000 acres."

"The weather now is similar," he said, "but both the industry and forest service are better organized to meet a fire hazard."

UBC School Of Dentistry Badly Needed

The establishment of a school of dentistry at the University of British Columbia, announced Thursday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, is needed to meet a "serious shortage" of dentists in Canada, says Dr. John B. Macdonald in a 105-page report issued by the university.

Dr. Macdonald, who is chairman of the division of dental research at the University of Toronto, said the population has increased by 5,000,000 since the last of Canada's "five" dental schools was organized in 1926. No dental schools have been organized since that date.

"There is an acute shortage of dentists in the rural areas of British Columbia. The average annual increase of dentists is only 13—not enough to cope with the annual population increase."

"British Columbia requires a dental school immediately to remedy the present emergency and to cope with future growth."

COST SURVEY

Dr. Macdonald estimates that capital costs for a faculty of dentistry at UBC would be about $1,750,000 and that net annual operating costs would reach $280,000 per year by the time the first class in dentistry graduated.

He recommends an annual graduating class of 40 dental students plus an annual class of 20 dental hygienists to meet the present need for dentists in B.C.

In a preface to the report UBC president N. A. M. MacKenzie says Dr. Macdonald's recommendations "will have to be considered in the light of the over-all educational needs of the people of this province. It will require prolonged and intimate study before implementation."

I.K. Strains to Free Dollars for Canada

The British Treasury is straining every effort to release dollars for investment in Canada, says Leslie Davies, chairman of the board of B.C. Land Investment Agency Ltd. now visiting the company's Victoria office from his headquarters in London, England.

"If there is any prospect of a fair return on investments in Canada over a reasonable period, the treasury will usually release funds for investment over here," Mr. Davies told the Times in an interview.

"It is my impression that our investments in Canada have increased substantially in Canada during the last two or three years and I believe the desire to invest in Canada is increasing."

Visiting B.C. for the first time since 1953, Mr. Davies is impressed by the "sound basis" on which industry is developing here.

In the drive for export trade Mr. Davies says British manufacturers are now studying the Canadian and U.S. market to a greater extent than ever before.

"This is particularly noticeable in the field of motor cars and wearing apparel. Many of Britain's export goods are now scarcely distinguishable from Canadian products."

Mr. Davies says an increasing number of British industrialists find they can do better by selling direct to Canada instead of working through agents. Several large concerns now have their own stores in Canada and the U.S. and he believes this trend will increase.

The firm which Mr. Davies heads in London was established there in 1963 for the purpose of investing in British Columbia. The office in Victoria, now headed by Robert Shanks, was opened the same year. In London Mr. Davies is a practicing chartered accountant as well as a director of several British companies.

"Our prospects out here are better than they have ever been," he said "and we have regained the ground we lost during the depression period. We opened an office in Vancouver last year and in time we may be able to open up in other parts of the province."

Mr. Davies is keenly interested in the prospects of increasing British emigration to Canada and says:

"We should take the long view and encourage the very best people to settle out here. There is no sense in telling skilled workers they should stay at home when their prospects are better elsewhere."

WINNIPEG (CP) — Fairly broad trade developed today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, due mostly to the more favorable developments in the attempts to settle the strike of some Great Lakes seamen. Trades were less hesitant in making commitments than in recent sessions.

Good aggressive demand appeared in oats for eastern shipping accounts and to a lesser degree in barley.

ROAF MOT

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

Purely personal (if not personally pure).

I have decided today is my birthday. According to my birth certificate, I was born on May 24, somewhere down the distant, dusty corridors of history.

But I have decided this is all wrong, and for this year, at least, my birthday will be celebrated on May 18.

And do not tell me I can't get away with it. Why not? They are celebrating May 24 on May 21 this year (I don't know who "they" might be—probably the vested interests or usually reliable sources or some similar mysterious group).

Well, if "they" expect me to follow along meekly, and have my May 24 birthday on May 21, same as Queen Victoria, they are mistaken.

Queen Victoria may have no objection to having her birthday pushed around, but I have.

I will accept a certain amount of regimentation, such as celebrating July 1 on July 2.

But nobody is going to tell me when to celebrate my birthday.

Therefore, being of more or less sound mind, I hereby declare and proclaim this, the 18th day of May, 1956, as my birthday.

Happy birthday to me, and thanks for all the letters and cards.

Speaking of birthdays, I would hate to be Queen Elizabeth II.

Queen Elizabeth was born on April 21, which one would think would be her birthday.

But one would be wrong.

In England, Queen Elizabeth's birthday is May 31.

In Victoria, Queen Elizabeth's birthday is May 21, same as Queen Victoria's (but not mine—remember I'm May 18).

This would seem to be rather hard lines on a woman, even if she is a queen. Imagine, three birthdays in one year—and spaced so closely together, the poor woman becomes three years older within six weeks.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.

The obvious solution to this birthday problem, shared mutually by Queen Victoria, Queen Elizabeth, and me, is to adopt the method used for thoroughbred race horses.

They all have their birthdays on the same day.

If human beings would only be sensible and follow the same logical idea, what a whale of a birthday party we could all have.

Vice-Principal At Vic High Gets UBC Appointment

Vice-principal at Victoria High School, Robert H. Heywood will resign Tuesday to assume an associate professorship at University of British Columbia, he announced today.

Mr. Heywood, who has taught commercial courses at the high school for 27 years, will join the school of commerce at the university. His new appointment takes effect July 1. He will be concerned principally with instruction to teachers-in-training, he stated.

Lumber Sales To Overseas Down by Half

Lumber shipments out of Victoria for overseas ports are down almost 50 per cent to date this year, compared with the same period last year.

Nearly all of the reduction is due to the softening of the United Kingdom market, according to local shipping men.

So far, this has been the slackest post-war year for deep-sea shipping, not only in Victoria, but other Island ports.

A B.C. survey of the lumber industry shows that sales to UK are down 45 per cent—from 186,854,000 board feet in the January-April period of 1955, to 104,417,000 board feet for the same period this year.

Lumbermen place the blame on two factors: easing of lumber restrictions in the UK, and the British "credit squeeze."

The UK government recently decided to release, for private use, 75 per cent of the country's strategic lumber reserve.

British Trade Commissioner P. B. Hunt of Vancouver said Thursday: "We could buy much more of Canada's goods than we are doing, but the trouble is, the amount we buy from you depends on the amount we sell to you. We must sell to earn the dollars with which to buy."

On the brighter side, the commissioner said that British exports to Canada this year are already 25 per cent above the similar period last year.

HOLIDAY WEEKEND PROGRAM

Record Crowds Expected At Victoria Day Events

Record crowds are expected at all Greater Victoria Celebrations events this weekend due to continuing warm weather unequalled in recent years.

Celebrations officials look to the most successful series of events.

"We're ready to go, the rest is up to the public," committee-men said.

Victoria's Mayor Percy Scourrah called on residents to support the local attractions upon the event of heavy rain the most yards to walk at the most to a point of vantage for the races.

Harry Adams, regatta chairman, said use of a field beside the highway had been secured, and spectators would have 200 yards to walk at the most to a point of vantage for the races.

School Sports

District youngsters kicked off their celebrations a day early with school sports this afternoon. But the first major attraction will be the queen crowning ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. at the Parliament Buildings.

Mayor Percy Scourrah will place the crown upon the head of pretty Marilynne June Dawson, 17. Shrine Band will be in attendance as a musical guard of honor.

Sunday will open with official Victoria Day church services. A Protestant service at HMCS Naden in the open air of the upper playing ground at 9:30 a.m. At 10:30 a.m. there will be a Roman Catholic service at St. Ann's Academy when Battle of Atlantic Sunday will also be commemorated with a Royal Canadian Navy drum-head service. Both are open to the public.

The Vancouver Island Indian Festival begins a two-day series of attractions at 11 a.m. at Songhees Indian Reserve, Maple Bank Park, off Admirals Road. High Mass will be held at 11 a.m.

Grand Pageant

A Grand Pageant gets under way at Royal Athletic Park at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Directed by Fraternal Order of Eagles, it will open with a flag raising ceremony followed by arrival of the celebrations queen and a speech by GVCA vice-president Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

Parading before the grandstand in a rainbow of color and maximum of fanfare will be HMCS Naden band, six girls' drill teams, Western Washington College band, a Seattle band, Girls' Pipe Band and band, Girls' Pipe Band and band. There will be dance displays, navy physical training displays and an appearance of the Victoria Motorcycle Club.

Civic dignitaries, headed by Lieut.-Governor Frank Mackenzie Ross and Premier W. A. C.

Bennett, will be in attendance, along with district reeves and Mayor Scourrah.

Also at 2 p.m. Sunday is a speedboat regatta. Parking space for an estimated 2,000 cars will be provided at Thetis Lake for the race meet to be sponsored by the Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association.

Harry Adams, regatta chairman, said use of a field beside the highway had been secured, and spectators would have 200 yards to walk at the most to a point of vantage for the races.

Outside Entries

Brock Robertson, club official, said 25 boat racers from out of town plan on taking part, and a total of at least 40 boats is expected to race.

Racing will start at 1:30 p.m. and there will be 12 events in all, Mr. Robertson said. In the event of heavy rain the meet will be postponed to Monday, he said.

At 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday will be staged the annual Gymnasia Fun, song festival at First United Church under direction of Professor Ivor Roberts of Vancouver. Local and Vancouver vocalists will take part and there is no admission charge.

Free Symphony

A last-minute switch in arrangements now relegates the proposed concert of Victoria Symphony Orchestra to a free outdoor presentation at Beacon Hill bandstand starting at 3 p.m. Sponsor is Hudson's Bay Company. The concert was to have been a charged admission affair in the evening at the Curling Rink. Officials said the change in plans was necessitated by slow advance ticket sale indicating the public did not wish to attend indoor events in warm weather.

A 50-cent admission covers all attractions in the Indian sports festival which gets under way Sunday at 1:30 p.m. and continue Monday at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. at Maple Bank Park.

Highlights will include naming of a May Queen, war canoe races, Indian dances with contestants coming here from the mainland and western U.S.A.

Mayor to Open Big Scoutorama

Mayor Percy Scourrah will officially open Greater Victoria Boy Scout Association "Scoutorama" at Memorial Arena to-night at 8.

Scouts will act historical pageants depicting the growth of Victoria from its earliest settlement as a Hudson's Bay Co. outpost.

Several hundred youngsters are included in the colorful cast.

Reverent Start For Celebration

1,000 Children Gather In Patriotic Ceremony

A simple, reverent patriotic ceremony which has been observed on lawns of the Legislative Buildings for 36 years was repeated this morning by more than 1,000 Greater Victoria school children, IODE, cadet corps, bands and others.

Traditionally, the Empire Day service opens Victoria Day weekend festivities by paying homage to the city's name-sake—Queen Victoria—at her monument.

A fanfare of trumpets announced arrival of IODE standard bearers bringing the colors to the service past Queen Victoria's statue where a guard of one Girl Guide, Boy Scout, Air Cadet and Sea Cadet was mounted.

The 50-member Oak Bay Schools Band played "Land of Hope and Glory" as the color party arrived, then "O Canada" and "Land of Our Birth" before Canon George Biddle, St. John's Anglican Church, gave the invocation.

A massed choir of grade six pupils from all city elementary schools, Monterey and Willows Schools in Oak Bay, Lamson Street in Esquimalt, and Toonie and Cloverdale in Saanich assembled on steps of the government buildings and sang "O God Our Help in Ages Past."

Mrs. A. W. Smith, regent of Victoria Municipal Chapter, IODE, introduced speaker Ald. Austin I. Curtis. She explained a primary purpose of the ceremony is to instill a deep feeling of patriotism in today's children—the citizens of the future.

NOT WARS ALONE

Ald. Curtis said, "In your history books... you will read a proud history of the British Empire, now the British Commonwealth. Unfortunately, history books emphasize battles and wars won by the Empire.

"But it has done much more than win wars. We've had men and women of the arts and sciences contributing as much to the Empire. In these fields, too, we have a proud history.

"We are now a nation within the Commonwealth of nations. We have a proud history to carry on."

It is the responsibility of children to perpetuate the... law and order and the respect for God," of the British Empire, he said.

FLORAL TRIBUTE

A ceremonial parade followed, in which small children carried flowers to the base of Queen Victoria's statue while the band played.

The entire service was over in 30 minutes.

Cadets participating in the service were from RCSC Rainbow, 89 Klmsmen Squadron Air Cadets, 4 LAA Battery Army Cadets, Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) Army Cadets, Rainbow drum and bugle corps and Rainbow WRC NS Cadettes.

Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Brownies, Cubs, Sea Scouts and St. John Ambulance Junior Corps were also on parade. Four scarlet-coated RCMP officers were mounted on the steps of the Legislature.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me where to find out about patenting a small article, or where to find out if a similar article has already been patented or on the market?—W.S.

A.—The Patents Act is Chapter 205, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952. A synopsis of the principal provisions of the Patent Act is to be found in the Canadian Almanac, 1956, on page 241, et seq. If you choose to employ a firm of patent attorneys to undertake your work, the Canadian Almanac also carries advertisement of patent attorneys.

Baseball Games

Monday at 2:30 and at 7:30 p.m. there will be baseball games at Royal Athletic Park. (A full schedule of sports events over the three-day holiday is listed on sports pages.)

At 4 p.m. occurs the highlight of the Indian festival, the 11-paddle war canoe race.

Final event in the long program is the Victoria Day jamboree dance at Memorial Arena at 9:30 p.m. Admission is $1 per person. Fred Usher's Home-towners and Gordon King's orchestra will share the program.

HARNESS RACING DATES SET

Ascot Jockey Club officials this week confirmed a promise made last year that the Sandown Track harness racing season would be increased to 14 days this year.

Dates released this week by track officials show that the season will start on June 30 with other dates on July 2, 4, 6, 7 and July 11, 12, 13, 14 and July 18, 20, 21, 25, 27 and 28.

Big Population, Prosperity Zoom Seen for Island

Third of Million Here by 1975

Over one-third of a million persons will make their home on Vancouver Island by 1975.

By the three-quarter mark of the century, per capita income on the Island will reach $2,000 a year.

Manufacturing output of Island industries will reach a value of $375,000,000, more than three times the present value, by 1975.

These roseate predictions for booming Vancouver Island were made Thursday by Tom Sturgess, deputy trade and industry minister, in a speech before Victoria Rotary.

According to Mr. Sturgess, the next 20 years will see Vancouver Island's population climb from its present 235,000 to 390,000.

He said present retail trade of $187,000,000 will skyrocket to $525,000,000 by 1975. In the same period, net production value in manufacturing will climb from $115,000,000 to $375,000,000.

AUTOS TO DOUBLE

Mr. Sturgess said the provincial government experts estimate the number of motor vehicles on the highways of the Island 20 years from now will hit 160,000, double the present 80,000.

The present per capita annual income on the Island is $1,500 a year. This will reach $2,000 a year by 1975, Mr. Sturgess predicted.

He told Rotary members the present industrial payroll of the Island is approximately $125,000,000, "which includes all service industries as well as manufacturing."

No estimate is available for 1975.

IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO SQUASH THE CURSE

Caterpillar Plague Peak Crawling Nearer

A plague of caterpillars, one of the worst in recent years, is expected to reach its peak within about two weeks.

Entomologists have warned that the pests already are leaving their nests and have begun stripping trees, but that there is still time to do effective spraying to control them.

DDT spray or dust, or malathion, are effective in controlling the caterpillars, according to the experts, if should be sprayed on foliage and fences, since the pests can be killed not only by eating poisoned leaves, but by contact with the poison on the ground.

Already hundreds of trees have been defoliated by the ravenous crawlers, especially in Saanich where no municipal attempts were made to control them. The city, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Central Saanich curbed the plague to a certain extent with spraying programs early in the spring.

All trees along certain roads on the Saanich peninsula have been stripped of their foliage.

W. H. Warren, city parks administrator, said today that since parks and boulevards have been sprayed—civic appropriations for this purpose are almost expended—similar action in private property will see the pests well under control.

According to the entomologists, continued warm weather and sunshine will send the caterpillars migrating from their tents in search of food.

The plague will ebb when parasites begin to kill the caterpillars—nature's way of controlling pests. Science can do nothing to control the plagues, that occur at seven or eight-year intervals, without upsetting the balance of nature.

Be Prepared for Onslaught On Pantries This Weekend

By PENNY SAVER

This is the beginning of the long weekend, and food supplies are going to take a beating, for picnics, snacks, rush lunches and family holiday dinners will leave your pantry rather bare if you're not prepared. It looks as if the weather will draw crowds outdoors, so that means sun-time foods are in order. Almost anything that will pamper your palate, is yours for the asking. Take a close look, and you'll find all kinds of holiday goods.

Did you know that... A salad can be whipped together in no time at all, and all the salad items are available to make it the best salad ever.

Radishes and green onions are 10 cents a bunch in most places and in one shop I found locally grown green onions selling at two bunches for 19 cents. Dessert tomatoes are 32 cents a pound; hot-house, 39 cents a pound, and sweet and juicy local hot-house tomatoes about the same price. Seedless cucumbers are 30 cents each, and regular, crisp cukes are the same price. Lettuce is 18 cents a head, celery, 20 cents.

The produce stores have a wonderful, enticing aroma around them that is a part of summer, for sure. It's of strawberries. Nothing smells quite the same or makes me hungry faster than this delicious smell. A little basket costs 35 cents and extra large berries are 43 cents.

Holiday foods always are watermelon and cantaloupe. There's something about their sweet, cool taste that makes them a favorite everywhere.

They're priced at nine cents a pound for watermelon, and 29 cents each for the cantaloupe. Locally grown rhubarb is 25 cents for five pounds.

Green beans are a tempting color and are selling at 50 cents a pound. Beets are 20 cents a bunch, and carrots are two bunches for 23 cents.

Asparagus in bundles is 29 cents a pound, and you'll find fresh spinach at 15 cents. New potatoes are a must, and are yours at three pounds for a quarter. Artichokes are 29 cents each, and small white turnips are 35 cents for two pounds.

You'll want to really enjoy the holiday weekend, and having easily prepared and tasty food in good supply, is a good beginning for any holiday.

Double-Ring Ceremony Held In Metropolitan United

Miss Bonnie Marleen Irvine, flower girl, and wore a short frock of rose-petal pink nylon posed over pink edged crinolines. She carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas, forget-me-nots and a single pink rose with pink and blue streamers. Her head garland was of pink and white flowers.

Best man was Edwin Corbett, and ushers Noel Barrie Irvine and Grant Curl. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Dr. F. E. H. James in a setting of spring flowers. Snapdragons, tulips and bluebells formed the floral background. Mrs. Larry Pollock was soloist and sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

A reception was held at Norway House following the ceremony. Narcissus, lilac, tulips and carnations decorated the archway where the wedding party received guests. A lace cloth covered the bride's table, where the three-tier wedding cake was centred, flanked by white candles and pink roses. Lily of the valley and forget-me-nots topped the cake. Ken Berkey of Duncan proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for a California honeymoon, Mrs. Curl wore a light blue tailored suit of material the same as the groom's. Her accessories were white and blue, and her corsage of pink carnations, lily of the valley, laceron and tulips.

When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Curl will make their home at 4048 Zinnia Avenue.

Girl Guide Camp Next Year Commemorates Centenary

TORONTO (CP)—A 350-acre campsite at Doe Lake, Ont., is to be the locale next year of the Girl Guide Association's first world camp, Mrs. W. Rankine Nesbitt, chief commissioner for Canada, announced Monday.

To commemorate the 100th birthday anniversary of Lord Baden-Powell, the guiding movement's founder, the Canadian camp, set for Aug. 8-19, 1957, is to be the first of four Girl Guide centenary camps. The others are to be in Switzerland and Great Britain.

Mrs. Nesbitt said guides from 35 countries have been invited to Doe Lake, a provincial campsite about 175 miles north of Toronto. Because the camp now accommodates only 300, the Canadian Girl Guide Association will launch an appeal for $127,000 for additional facilities.

Canadian representation has been limited to 405. Another 400 are expected from the United States.

Mrs. Nesbitt said transportation, camp fees and equipment for the visitors will be provided by the Canadian association.

To attend, guides must be between 15 and 18 years old, experienced in all phases of camp life including ability to prepare three meals a day for 10 persons; must be able to pitch, strike and care for a tent; be adaptable, understand other people and be familiar with their own country's geography, history and industries.

Transportation to the camp for Canadian Girl Guides, regardless of where they live, will be $60.

Lasses in Glasses Make Headlines: Now They Match Specs With Clothes

BY KITTY DIXON

It's glasses for glamor first... necessity second, this summer.

The idea is to match pastel and bright-colored dresses, blouses and sportswear with the frames of your glasses. Of course, this means a whole wardrobe of glasses. It's revolutionary, I know, but as blonde Ronnie Burkett, winner of the "most beautiful girl to wear glasses in Canada" contest, says in a recent Canadian Press story:

"I believe a woman should put as much care and money into selecting spectacles as she does into jewelry."

Ronnie has 11 pairs and hopes to make it 15 or 20 before long. The "glamor first" trend is catching on across Canada to such an extent that many girls are wearing glasses with clear or tinted lenses, just so they can match the pretty frames with their dresses.

However, a little research, locally, showed that Victoria is behind the pace being set by eastern girls.

Most opticians regard a five-pair spectacle wardrobe "outstanding" in Victoria. And there is no such thing (as far as I could discover) as a girl with 15 or 20 pairs, as suggested by "The Most Beautiful Girl to Wear Glasses in Canada" person.

This doesn't mean the new match-your-wardrobe frames aren't available in the city. They are very much so, and opticians naturally think the new trend is the greatest since Meissner first advocated spectacles.

Potential customers interviewed think the idea is "fantastic" ... but at the same time "sensational."

They eagerly slipped the frames on, viewed themselves in mirrors and made such exclamations as:

"Ooh... these would go perfectly with my new summer formal!"

Or, "I think I'll get this pair made up with sunglass lenses in my own prescription."

Victoria girls can be outfitted with pretty glasses to wear from dawn to dawn, every day of the week.

Pearly-white frames look stunning with a sultan and a white linen suit, I discovered. And pastel frames with pale summer frocks look like stick candy, good enough to eat.

There are striped and spotted frames which go with crisp summer blouses, and bold colors or unusual patterns such as leopard spots, to wear with bathing suits and other sportswear.

For evening wear, you'll find frames sprinkled with tiny rhinestone "stardust," or for the larger face, elaborate "jewel" trim.

Most expensive-looking frames seen locally are those made of the "new, miracle metal" Turium, which looks for all the world like purest gold ... and which, I am told, will outwear wrought iron. Well, almost.

Everyone asked seems to like the idea, so it's probable that Victoria's lovelies will blossom forth in an array of summery glasses, before long.

I think Ogden Nash dated himself with this one: "A girl who is bespectacled will never get her neck tickled."

But safety pins and bassinets. Wait the girl who fascinates. The days of owlish lenses and yellowed horn-rims undoubtedly envisioned by Nash are gone forever. Now the girl who selects her glasses with imagination can be more "fascinating" when she's bespectacled than when she's not!

Saanich Man Pays $250 Fine; Owned Smuggled Goods

A Saanich mechanic was fined $250 and $5 costs or three months in jail when he appeared in Saanich police court today charged with illegal possession of smuggled car parts.

Grant King, 1666 McRae, was charged after an RCMP search of his home uncovered $348 worth of race-car parts which had illegally entered Canada in February.

He pleaded guilty to the charge Thursday.

RCMP said the parts were being used in construction of a race car which King was building for another person.

Among the parts were an engine head, racing pistons, cam shafts, a crankshaft and eye-bolts.

Penalties under the Customs Act for the offence is a fine of from $200 to $1,000, jail sentence of from one to four years, or both.

Thursday, King was also fined $30 or five days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding a 50 mph speed limit on Patricia Bay Highway May 4.

Police said he was paced at 70 mph.

Gorge Officially Declared 'Clean'

Gorge waters received their official "clean bill of health" from Victoria-Esquamalt and Saanich medical health officers today.

An announcement by Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy and Dr. A. N. Beatty said "The waters of the Gorge come well within approved standards required for safe bathing."

Recommended was construction of beaches at the old free bathing area below Tillicum Bridge and on the site of the old Japanese Tea Garden.

Official declaration of opening of public swimming is subject to provisions.

First opening dates will be set each year by health authorities following a sanitary survey and sampling of the water. It is pointed out that because of winter drainage from Colquitz River and Craigflower Creek, it is essential to determine that ground water has dried up before swimming starts.

Secondly, opening depends on a weekly check on a sewer pumping station adjacent to the Gorge by Saanich engineering department. A breakdown could cause contamination to reach the Gorge near Inez Street.

Finally, the health authorities ask that before crowds take to the two approved beaches, sand be dumped to a depth of four inches, with renewals at intervals.

This should be continued until there is a sandy bottom to a depth of three feet. Sanitary facilities must be provided for both sexes and dressing rooms and drinking water provided. A roped off area should be established for children and a lifeguard in attendance.

All of these conditions are already being fulfilled or considered by intermunicipal authorities.

The ban on Gorge swimming, though ignored by many youngsters, has been in effect since 1938 due to the presence of pollution caused by residential septic tanks. In recent years sewers have replaced the tanks and sanitary inspectors recommended the area be re-opened. Gorge Waterway Improvement Association is currently investigating methods to finance a dredging program.

LAST RITES HELD FOR FATHER DICK

OTTAWA (CP)—Blue naval uniforms blended with black and white nuns' habits today at funeral rites for one of the victims of Tuesday night's crash of an RCAF jet fighter into a Roman Catholic convalescent home.

A funeral mass was held in 100-year-old St. Patrick's church for Rev. Richard Ward, 42, of Toronto, assistant chaplain of the fleet and also chaplain of the destroyed convent. Another mass will be held in Toronto where burial will take place.

Vice-Admiral Harry DeWolf, chief of naval staff, headed the large group of naval officers attending the rites.

an opinion" on the inclusion of the Clayco public working circle in B.C. Forest Products Ltd. management licence on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Gibson asked Dr. Orchard whether he remembered stating "I have never given my approval to B.C. Forest Products licence?"

"I can't recall definitely making that statement," said Dr. Orchard. He then added, "I don't say for a minute I didn't make that statement."

"Was it done whether you approved or not?" asked Mr. Gibson.

"I wasn't asked for an opinion."

Mr. Gibson asked "who was it who approved it (taking in the public working circle, generally considered the preserve of small loggers)?"

"I don't know," the chief for-ester answered.

"How many occasions were there where the department was passed completely—where licences were granted without their approval or knowledge?"

"I can't answer off-hand," said Dr. Orchard.

He then qualified this to say he has knowledge of all licences, and added that "there is no reason why the minister should ask for my advice, in the law."

"It would seem the public is not very well protected," Mr. Gibson said.

Dr. Orchard told the commission that Canadian Forest Products and Powell River Co. could have had forest management licence "if they had actively sought one, and had been prepared to accept what the forest service recommended."

Both firms stated in previous evidence they had taken every possible step in an effort to obtain a licence.
